23 Of Hitler's Divisions Broken Up; Review Of Last Month Made

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 — A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said today that Russian troops advancing west of Taganrog on the sea of Azov Front "crossed at several points to the west bank of the river Miuss."

"It's on the western bank," the announcer added, "that the Germans were trying to make a stand in their retreat."

KUIBYSHEV, USSR, Dec. 13 — With tremendous new Russian victories claimed on the Moscow Front, the Soviet Union once again turned a cold shoulder on reported German peace feelers today. "The Hitlerites are dreaming about peace with the USSR. These dreams will never come true."

"Peace can be concluded only after the German nation chases out Hitler and his gang and only mutually with the United States and Great Britain."

"Annihilation of the Hitlerite criminals is the first and absolute condition for peace."

ISLAND OF OAHU PREPARING FOR ANY JAP MOVE

HONOLULU, Dec. 13—The island of Oahu, with its quarter million people, went into its sixth night of blackout last night with no further enemy action reported, and with the citizens of the Pacific paradise rapidly acquainting themselves with martial rule.

Although military and naval authorities released no details, it was fairly authentically known that the U. S. Navy has scored considerable success and that a large area surrounding the Hawaiian Islands is now clear of enemy craft.

However, according to Washington, fighting was still going on around Midway Island, little more than a thousand miles away, and Honolulu remained fully prepared for any repetition of the fierce Jap raid Sunday that left 3,000 casualties on Oahu and precipitated the U. S. Japanese war.

With Secretary of the Navy Knox on the scene and the islands under the emergency rule of Gen. Walter C. Short as military governor, all of Hawaii was swiftly being transformed into one vast war machine.

NOTE SENT TO CHINESE

Capital City's Morale At High Mark; Fifth Column Suspects Hit

MANILA, Dec. 13—Japanese raiders got a taste of American anti-aircraft accuracy today when two flights of Nipponese bombers attacked the Manila area, shortly after noon.

The first flight dropped explosives on Camp Nichols, but was forced to break formation, with several of its ships apparently hit, when the attack was met by a fierce hail of anti-aircraft shells.

Ten minutes later the second formation sped over the army camp in perfect formation, dropping bombs. It left with its ranks showing many gaps—indicating that defense forces had taken a heavy toll of Jap planes and pilots.

Numerous bombs were spread by the raiders, in a mathematical pattern apparently covering a wide area at the big American defense post.

There was no immediate announcement concerning the raid by American army headquarters.

However, a previous Jap bombing attack on Clark Field, north of Manila, was announced.

At the same time a spokesman for Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur said no important ground fighting had been reported.

Gen. MacArthur, commander of the U. S. Far Eastern army, sent a message of encouragement to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek as American and Filipino forces held Japan's invasion of the Philippines in check.

Manila emerged from its first raidless night in which civilians got their first good sleep since outbreak of the war. It was broken only by a brief alarm at 6 a. m.

Clark Field to the north and Cebu Island far to the south were bombed but no enemy planes appeared over Manila.

Northern Luzon Quiet

No new activity was reported in northern and south eastern Luzon, where Jap troops have made landings and are battling both the defense post.

Normandie And 12 Other French Ships Are Held

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 — The U. S. Coast Guard today maintained complete charge of the 83,423 ton French liner Normandie, and four other vessels in the port of New York following seizure of the ships for the navy and removal of their French crews. Eight other French vessels were being held in other American ports.

The Normandie, a $65,000,000 vessel, was seized at her North River pier yesterday by coast guardsmen with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets.

The other ships involved were the Mont Everest and the Ile De Re, berthed beside the Normandie, and the Fort Royal and Leopold L. D., tied up elsewhere in New York waters.

Cady, Veteran of Philippine Action, Says Island Will Be Tough to Take

By Austin Showman
Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Guam, Japan and China—they all are familiar places to Mayor W. B. Cady who spent five years in their vicinity and probably knows as much about them as anyone in Circleville.

The Japanese are intelligent people, but they can be beaten, and the United States' most effective weapon against them will be the American bomber, the mayor believes.

On four different occasions Mayor Cady visited Nagasaki, Japan—in 1902, 1903, 1905 and 1910. Dwellings in Japan are made of paper and incendiary bombs dropped in their midst would be highly effective. An air base at Vladivostok, Siberia, would enable American bombers to fly over Japan, drop their "eggs" and return to the base in a single operation, the mayor contends.

It is not at all surprising to Mayor Cady that the Japs made a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor Sunday, since the "Diamond Head" blocks the view so that Japanese planes could be over the harbor before they were sighted. The next few weeks will see the United States rapidly coming to the front with her sea power, Mayor Cady believes. Back in the early 1900s when he went to the Philippines, it took 26 sailing days to reach Manila from San Francisco. Although modern ships are faster, a large portion of the United States fleet probably has not yet arrived in the combat zone. When the ships do arrive it will be a different story, the former army sergeant maintains.

Landing troops on the Philippines is not difficult for the Japs, since only a very small portion of the island area is fortified. On most of the islands, the jungle runs to the water's edge. Troops could land and disappear into the jungle, but for them to take strategic points on the islands is another story.

Circleville's mayor spent 24 years and three days in the army. He was a trumpeter, a clerk in the quartermaster's department and an officer in charge of mess at Alcatraz, which then, 1905, was an army prison.

While at the army post Balanig in the Philippines, he was among those detailed to bury 43 white enlisted men, three officers and nearly 700 natives killed in a massacre.

Terms Of Up To 22 Years Loom; Duquesne Leader Of Espionage Ring

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Fourteen men today faced prison terms ranging up to 22 years after being found guilty last midnight of espionage in behalf of the German government.

The defendants were charged in indictments returned last July 15 with having conspired to transmit United States defense secrets to German government agents, and with failure to register as representatives of an alien government. Thirty three persons were indicted originally, but 17 pleaded guilty prior to the trial and two others entered guilty pleas after being brought into court.

KILLER OF GOLF QUEEN AND HER MOTHER TO DIE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 13—The first conviction was recorded with a recommendation for the death penalty today as the state moved swiftly against two others for the sensational murder of Golf Queen Marion Miley, 27, and her 50-year-old mother, Elsa.

Robert H. Anderson, 36, proprietor of a cheap night spot in Louisville, was found guilty of the murder of Miss Miley last night by a jury which had deliberated for more than 24 hours.

The jury recommended death in the electric chair for Anderson. In Kentucky, the jury's recommendation is not mandatory, and may be modified by Judge Chester Adams when he passes sentence, probably late next week.

Anderson was the only one of the three charged with murder in the case who had consistently maintained his innocence, according to officers. Confessions, which involved Anderson, have been attributed to Tom Penney and to Raymond Baxter, the other two.

Penney and Anderson, both ex-convicts, were accused of invading the Lexington Country Club, of which Mrs. Miley was manager, on the night of September 29. They fatally shot both the women when they awakened and resisted them, and then robbed the place of approximately $150.

Baxter, a greenskeeper at the club, was accused of helping to plan the robbery.

LIVESTOCK BURNS

NEWARK, Dec. 13—Thirty-four head of livestock burned to death when fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn at the home of Mrs. N. Nardi, at the edge of nearby Utica.

FIVE DEAD, FOUR MISSING IN TNT PLANT DISASTER

BURLINGTON, Ia., Dec. 13 — Five known dead and four missing were counted today in an explosion which blew one entire story from the three-floor No. 1 TNT melting plant at the government's Iowa ordnance works.

Suspicious of sabotage were quietly by Lieut. Col. K. F. Adamson, commanding officer at the plant. He said the explosion, which rocked the country for miles around, was accidental, but its exact cause has not been determined.

Four of the dead were identified as Ellsworth Schilderstrom of Agency, Ia., P. J. Pettit of Lansing, Ia., John K. Cummings of Bunch, Ia., and Woodrow W. Wehrle of Rome, Ia. A fifth body could not be identified.

The explosion let go yesterday in a room where TNT is melted by steam heat for mixing with other compounds to form the explosive which is put into bombs and shells.

The entire top floor of the large building was blown away, and the rest of the structure was wrecked. Nineteen of the injured—estimated at more than two score—were still hospitalized in Burlington today.

Two of the injured, Lyle Teal of Keosauqua, Ia., and Wilbert Tock of Oakville, Ia., were not expected to recover. Bodies of the missing were still sought in the debris today.

The plant, occupying 20,000 acres outside Burlington, is owned by the government but is operated under Army supervision by Day and Zimmerman, Inc., of Philadelphia.

BRITISH DESTROY ITALIAN CRUISER AND HIT OTHERS

LONDON, Dec. 13—One Italian cruiser was sunk in the central Mediterranean before dawn today and another severely damaged, the admiralty announced.

In addition, the admiralty revealed, one torpedo boat was severely damaged and an "E" boat sunk.

There was no damage to British vessels which made the attack and no British casualties, it was said.

The attack was made by the destroyers Sikh, Legion, Maori and Isaac Sweers. They contacted the Italian vessels while patrolling in the central Mediterranean area.

The British force immediately attacked with torpedoes and gunfire.

Both Italian cruisers were hit immediately, with the leading cruiser bursting into flames and burning fiercely. Later it blew up.

The second cruiser when last seen was burning from stem to stern, the admiralty report said. Damage to the Italian torpedo boat was reported heavy.

ARMY TO START AIR BASE WORK

Engineers Appear Friday To Make Tests For Cement Runways

That the U. S. Army will not delay its construction of an air base in the Groveport-Lockbourne-Ashville district was indicated Saturday when residents of the community reported that Army Engineers had appeared on the site Friday and started to make preliminary surveys.

Information coming from the district said that the engineers were making borings for cement runways for airplanes. One runway, reports said, would be 7,000 feet long and 500 feet wide and would cover approximately 1,500 acres.

The Army announced last week that it has designated the district, which is in Franklin County bordering on the northern Pickaway line, for a huge air base to train pilots.

Tokyo Admits Trouble In Chungking Region As Chinese Press On

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Dec. 13—The Batavia radio broadcast an unconfirmed report that 4,000 Japanese soldiers were drowned when submarines of the Netherlands Navy sank four Nipponese troopships off the Malay coast.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 13 — Destruction of four Japanese troop ships off the coast of Malaya by Netherlands East Indies submarines was announced by British military headquarters in Singapore today.

The four vessels were loaded with troops when they were sent to the bottom by the sudden attack.

The troop-laden transports were sunk last night.

The British announcement said:

"Submarines of the Netherlands Navy sank four troop ships off Patani (on the east coast of Malaya)."

"The general situation in northern Malaya has not changed in the last 12 hours."

"The troop ships were fully loaded and steaming south. The submarines were operating under orders of the British naval commander-in-chief."

Announcement that the situation remains unchanged in northern Malaya indicated the British imperial forces there are holding back the Japanese attack.

Singapore Big Objective

Heavy and confused fighting was reported raging in the Malayan interior as the British slugged it out with the Japanese, whose major objective is the great British far eastern base of Singapore.

British Royal Air Force planes hammered the Nipponese forces in a continuing series of sharp air assaults that got under way in force yesterday with an attack on Singora on the Thailand coast.

One British air attack was declared to have played havoc with 60 Japanese barges, loaded with troops, off the Malayan Coast.

Swooping within 50 feet of the water, British and Australian airmen sprayed the Japanese with a death-leading hail of machine gun fire that left the Japanese crouching helplessly in the barges. Many were left struggling in the water.

(United States authorities announced Japanese bombers had attacked the British refugee ship Anhui in Manila's outer harbor on Wednesday. The ship, carrying 470 British civilians from the Orient, finally docked safely although it was hit nine times. No fatalities were reported but a number of fenders and the difficult terrain. "I take this occasion," Gen. MacArthur messaged the embattled Chinese commander, "to send you this message of greeting. In sympathy and spirit I have ranged by your side from the beginning of your epic struggle for freedom. That spiritual conception has now become a reality and I send you the warm handclasp of a comrade in arms."

Major Legrande Diller, Gen. MacArthur's press spokesman, issued a brief communique this morning:

"In the air the enemy has bombed Cebu and Clark Field, on the ground there has been only sporadic and unimportant action. Earlier, Major Diller had said: "The night (Friday night) was uneventful. There was local activity in the areas which have been occupied by the enemy. The enemy force at Legaspi has not been reinforced."

Manila's morale was excellent today, with the capital rapidly growing impervious to air raid alarms. A vast improvement has been made in coordination of military and civil defense measures, on the military side, U. S. and Filipino airmen were keeping Japanese bombers on the run, while U. S. warships scoured the seas for fleeing Jap naval units, and parachute troops and landing parties were kept in check.

In blacked-out Manila last night, streets' rifles blazed in the black streets when red flares were lit, apparently by Fifth Columnists. Soldiers and Philippine constabulary troops, acting on orders, also fired on several houses showing lights.

Friday was marked by the largest flight to date of Jap raiders over the island of Luzon, but defending forces also scored their largest bag of enemy planes to date, and the raiders were kept scattered and their damage held to a minimum.

SOLONS DEBATE USE OF YOUNGER MEN AS TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Congress moved swiftly today on the Army's request that all American men from 18 to 64 inclusive be registered in a great pool of manpower for the war.

Despite a smattering of opposition—the first yet expressed in Congress to any war measure—leaders predicted early passage of the bill which would permit registration of the 18 to 64 group and designate those between 19 and 48 inclusive as liable for active service.

Both Senate and House Military Affairs Committees were called into Saturday sessions in an effort to speed work on the measure to get between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 men to sign up for Uncle Sam.

The Senate group launched its work by calling Col. Leonard P. Ayers, World War statistician, while the House committee was to receive a statement from Secretary of War Stimson and testimony from Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, and Brig. Gen. Wade H. Haislip, deputy chief of staff in charge of personnel.

"I don't favor drafting men below 21," Rep. Sparkman (D) Ala., a member of the committee, said. "They've got to show me that we really need them, and I don't think we do. After all, in the World War we raised an army of between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 and never drafted anyone below 21."

Rep. Elston (R) Ohio, another committee member, also said he would have to be shown the necessity for drafting "youngsters."

Those who had conferred with War Department officials, however, said that there was no immediate plan to call for the service of anyone below 21.

FULL BLACKOUT IN 'FRISCO GOES OVER TWO HOURS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13—Eye-witnesses to last night's dramatic war-time blackout on San Francisco, and a swath of northern California, today described the experience in superlatives such as "impressive" and "thrilling."

For two hours and thirty-five minutes, from 7:25 p. m. until 10 p. m. the San Francisco Bay area, with its population of 2,000,000, was plunged into total darkness.

Normal activities were brought to a dead standstill. Business halted. Traffic froze. Pedestrians huddled in doorways and peered into the star-lit sky. People sat expectantly in blacked-out rooms or their homes. All radios were silenced.

The only announcement from military authorities was a statement at Fourth Army headquarters that "unidentified planes" had been picked up by detectors of the Fourth Interceptor Command. No bombs were dropped. The populace remained calm.

SOUTHERN BASE HAS BLACK OUT IN RAID SCARE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13—The naval air station at Jacksonville was blacked out and all personnel was turned out for instant duty for nearly three hours this morning.

The blackout went into effect at 4:30 a. m. and was lifted at 7:14 a. m. Airplanes were warned up for immediate take-off, but all remained on the ground.

Capt. Charles P. Mason, speaking for the station, declined to reveal the exact cause for the alert, but he said "it was no test."

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 13—The first real blackout of the war was ordered today for this important naval and torpedo base and all personnel responded for active duty.

The blackout was ordered at 3:40 a. m., and the all clear signal was given a half hour later.

FORD TO BAN PUBLIC FROM ITS FACTORIES

DETROIT, Dec. 13—Due to the vast amount of defense work being done by the Ford Motor Company, its plants will be closed to the public "for the duration," it was announced today by company officials.

The rotunda, housing an extensive defense display, will remain open, however. Officials said 121,896 persons inspected the plant so far in 1941—an average of 2500 per working day.

killed large numbers of German troops and captured many prisoners and much booty.

The communiques also claimed Soviet victories in the Kalinin Area northwest of Moscow, including the smashing of the 306th German infantry regiment.

On the Southern Front, Soviet authorities said, Russian forces crossed the Miussa river at several points in the course of their advance west of Taganrog.

"Major Disaster"

But chief attention centered on the blood-soaked Moscow defense zone, where the flight of the Germans was described as a major disaster for the German armies and the greatest flow the Nazi military machine has yet suffered.

Northwest of Moscow, charging Russian troops were reported driving a pincer encirclement ring around the strategic town of Klin on the Moscow-Leningrad railway. A high command communique said 23 divisions had been smashed, routed, encircled or driven into retreat.

Some German divisions were declared to have been trapped in preparation for forthcoming battles of annihilation as Red army Cossack units broke through the Nazi lines, cutting the German communication lines.

The special announcement was published under the heading: "Fiasco of German plans for surrounding and capturing Moscow."

It said that on November 16 the Germans sent 13 tank divisions, 33 infantry divisions and five motorized infantry divisions into the second general offensive on the Moscow Front with the intention of striking from three directions and capturing the city. On December 6, it stated, "our troops launched counter-offensives against the enemy flanks."

Both enemy flank groups were said to have been routed. The communique gave a long list of towns captured or surrounded and enemy divisions smashed or put to flight.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—A report was current in diplomatic quarters in Washington today that Admiral Francois Darlan, Vichy premier, will soon order the French fleet to convoy all French merchant ships across the Mediterranean between Algiers and the mainland of France.

Sinking of the French steamer St. Denis early this week reportedly by a British submarine off the Balearic Islands is expected to be cited by Darlan as the reason for ordering the French Navy to escort all French merchant ships over the Marseilles-Algiers route.

Darlan is expected to declare that Vichy cannot permit the link between France proper and Algiers to be severed by the operations of the British Navy.

Cited As First Step

If the Vichy government orders the French Navy to start convoying all French merchant ships between Algiers and Marseilles, the indications are such action will be regarded by the American government as the first step toward using the fleet in the interests of the axis.

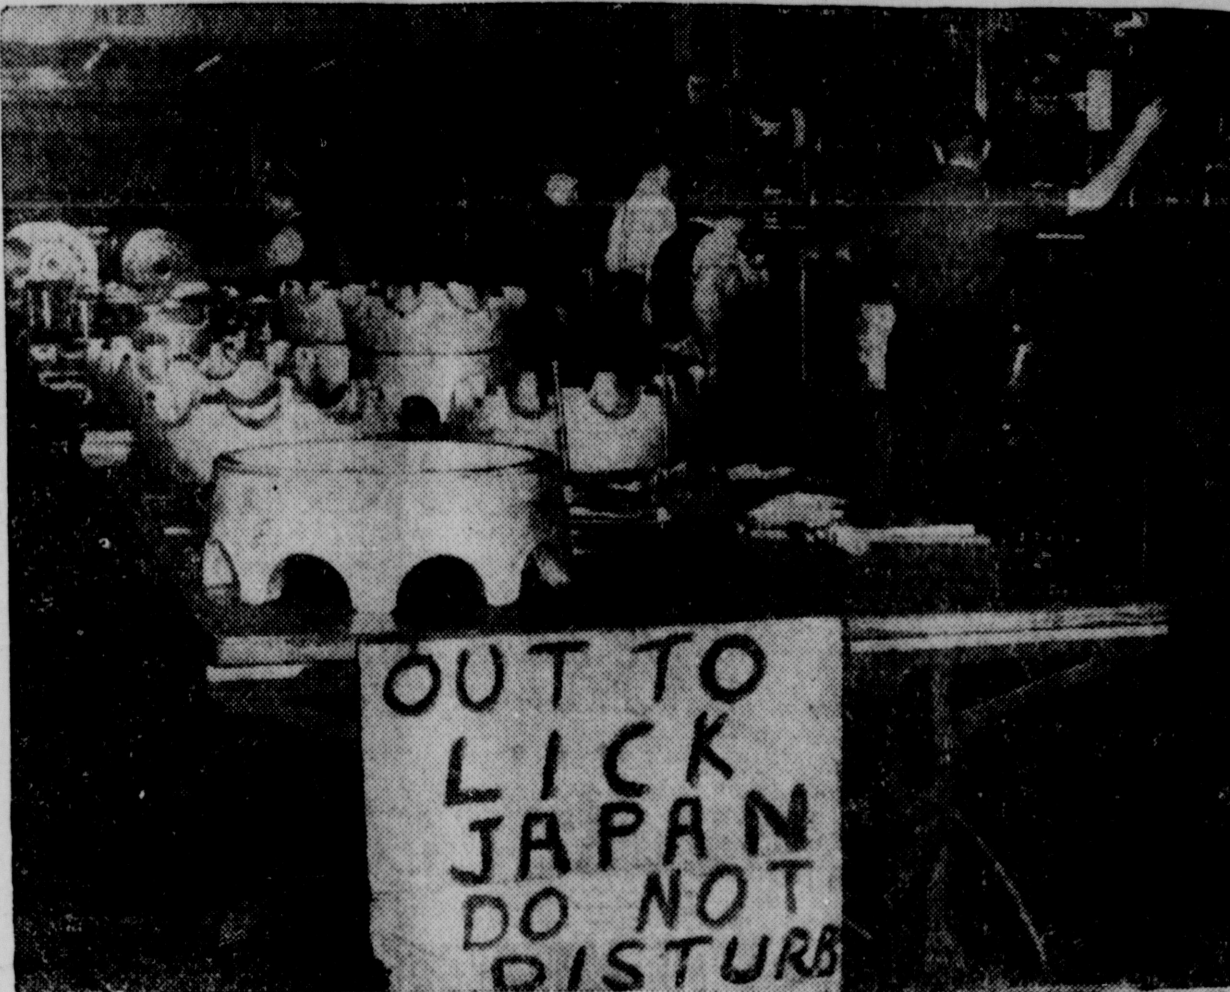

Great Britain is understood to feel that unless a close watch is kept on French shipping between Africa and France proper, it will be used in the interests of the axis. London already has charged that a substantial part of the cargo carried from Africa to France by French shipping find their way to German hands.

It is for this reason that the British claim they have been stopping the French ships. In the case of the St. Denis, there are conflicting versions of what happened. The British claim the ship was fired on because it failed to heed a warning to stop for search. The French answered that before it had a chance to stop two torpedoes hit it.

efforts, Ford indicated. He said: "We have asked employees . . . to volunteer for a seven-day week until we can train additional men."

On completion of the training of new personnel, the plants will remain open full-time, the industrialist said, but added that men would then only have to work the normal week.

Night and day operations already are proceeding at the Pratt & Whitney airplane engine plant, while construction crews on the Willow Run bomber plant also are on the new schedule, keeping right up with the flow of materials.

In a telegram to Walter P. Reuther, director of the GM division of the UAW-CIO, B. D. Kunkle, General Motors vice-president, indicated the corporation's willingness to initiate the all-out seven-day plan provided the union's attitude toward the question of overtime pay for weekend work proves satisfactory.

Library Notes

The Longhorns—By Frank Dobie. The Texas Longhorn made more history than any other breed of cattle the world has ever known. The Longhorns were pioneers in a hard, strange land. It is their story, told by a born teller of tales, who knows that legend and folklore are proper parts of history. It is the story, too, of the men the Longhorn brought into being—the Texas cowboys who rode over the rim with all the energy, insolence and pride of the booming west.

Mr. Dobie tells of the Spanish Conquistadores, who brought their cattle with them; of "Mavericks and Mavericks" and the abrupt justice of the rope. He catches the terrible excitement of the stampede, the poetry of the play of lightning on a sea of seething horns. He writes absorbingly of titanic bull fights on the range, ghost steers, fabulous treks and Indian torture.

The book contains many very attractive illustrations.

Breads And More Breads—By Sumption and Ashbrook. Recipes for breads of many kinds collected from recipes of many nations. This volume gives recipes for almost any type of bread, roll, cookie, or cake known to man. Banana nut bread, potato doughnuts, rice (from a Chillicothe, Ohio, recipe), zwieback, parkin, rice bread, butter braid, mandel bread, drickeronbrood (king's bread; Holland), gingerbread, blui, pittskin, pancakes, pumpernickel, tortillas, kaffee kaka, and baps are a few kinds mentioned.

Along with the recipes and many suggestions given in the introduction, the author presents a history of bread, its use and manner of preparation. One of the sections in the book carries this title: "Maybe you would like to try these—" and suggestions follow under these heads: "If you are a beginner," "If you are an experienced cook," "If you want something inexpensive," and "If you do not mind the expense."

I Was A Head-Hunter—By Cummings, Lewis V. Setting forth from Bogota with three little donkeys, Lewis Cummings traveled alone through unknown regions of South America until he came to a great red jungle river. There, on the flooded Guaviare, he was befriended by a tribe of head-hunting Indians from whom he learned to hunt, to fish, to shrink human heads. So complete was his acceptance by the tribe that he not only participated in their sacred and cruel initiation ceremonies, but afterwards was married to one of the three daughters of the tribe in a single ceremony.

Tigers Defeat London In Rough 29-16 Cage Game

Forty-Two Personal Fouls Called In Contest; Three Field Goals Scored On Local Defense

With one victory behind them, Circleville High Tigers go out after another Saturday night when they invade Grove City to meet Peter's Greyhounds. The Tigers came home from London late Friday night with a 29-16 victory tucked into the record book after a game that was close for three periods and then became a rout.

Twenty-four personal fouls were called on Circleville, Sabine, Geib and Moorehead leaving the game on personals, and 18 were called on London, Cain and Powers being lost for violations.

The Tigers were beaten in their first two tests with Lancaster and Greenfield McClain, but took London in an impressive manner. The home team was gunning for the Red and Black and made things tough for a while, but ability of the Tiger defense to hold down Powers and Cain, the Red Raiders two scoring threats, halted London's offensive. Powers had not been held under 10 points this season, but Friday evening he got two.

The Tigers grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first period, but trailed 5-6 as the quarter ended. Three second quarter buckets gave the Red and Black an 11-8 advantage as the half ended.

London took over as the third quarter started and tossed five good free throws to lead 13-11 before the Tigers got rolling again. The Red and Black scored nine points while holding London scoreless, the end of the quarter breaking in after Circleville led 16-13. Thirteen points were counted by the Tigers in the final period.

"Cripples" Used

Coach Roy Black used Johnny Woods, out with an injured ankle, only part of the game, and had Bob Moon in the lineup for only a minute at the end of the contest. Both will be ready for some action tonight.

Chub Valentine led Circleville scorers with 10 points, while Neff with seven was high for London. The Red Raiders were able to score only three field goals on the Red and Black defense.

Circleville reserves made the evening unanimous with a 30-7 victory, leading 15 to 1 at one stage in the game. Buck Clifton and Dud Smallwood scored nine and seven points respectively.

The squad intends to leave the high school for Grove City by bus at 6 o'clock this evening.

BRICKER PUTS APPROVAL ON BIBLE OBSERVANCE

Governor John W. Bricker endorses the observance of Universal Bible Sunday on Sunday, December 14.

As a fitting prelude to the President's address to be given to the nation on December 15 in celebration of the adoption 150 years ago of the Bill of Rights, the churches of the country will observe Universal Bible Sunday on December 14 for the philosophy behind the Bill of Rights stands squarely upon the Bible. The American Bible Society which has sponsored Universal Bible Sunday for many years, and is this year itself celebrating its 125th anniversary, has suggested, as the theme for the day "The Light Shines in the Darkness." This adaptation from the fifth verse of the First Chapter of John's Gospel points to the encouraging fact that against the tragic background of the present world's life the Bible is better known over wider areas of the world and in greater demand than ever before. Even in Germany the Prussian Bible Society of Berlin reports sales of the Bible of 289,013 copies for 1940 as against 127,234 in 1938. China, in the midst of her lengthening struggle and her deepening poverty has become the world's largest customer of copies of the Christian Scriptures.

In addition to the celebration in the churches there will be hundreds of local broadcasts throughout the nation. The Columbia Broadcasting Company's popular Sunday morning program, "Wings Over Jordan" will present Rev. F. C. Jenkins, well-known preacher of Columbus, who will speak of the significance of Universal Bible Sunday at 9:30 a. m. The Columbia network will also carry for the third successive year the voice of Senator James J. Davis.

Some go to church as a result of the force of habit. Some attend to impress their fellows. But when an individual senses the need of the church, he will always be found in his pew worshipping his God. He is there for a purpose, he realizes his own inadequacy; his inadequacy is answered in God. When one comes to be helped, then one is helped. A sincere desire to better one's self is

Why Go To Church

By the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey
The lamps of the world are going out one by one, but there is one light that must be kept burning.

In the black-out that will be imposed upon cities the lamps of God must be lighted in the lives of men and women. For there is danger that in the confusion of the hour the black-out of despair will take precedent. With in the past week the church has been confronted with the task of building Christian morale. At that task it will be victorious.

The church was born in the midst of a totalitarian state. For over nineteen hundred years it has been persecuted and beaten. It a prerequisite for church attendance.

Today man will need God more than ever. He will have to depend on the eternal assurances that only God can promise. He will be driven to the existing necessity of God in his individual life. When that moment comes he will find the church waiting to give him the very desire of his life. The church can not force him into its sanctuary, but he will come on his own free will when he sees its necessity. The church is necessary because it teaches a faith.

"Why go to church? We will go to church because the church offers a fellowship that is so needed when all is so dark. Is man a unit who can light his own path by his own means? Can he live alone and like it? Or is he a member of God's society and as such possesses a definite responsibility to God, his Creator? Man is not a unit to himself. In the full sense of the word, man can not live alone and like it. He discovers meaning in fellowship with God and with his fellows.

Oh, yes, man may worship God alone without the influence of the church. But will he? Within the church he worships with men and women who are bound together in a common purpose in Jesus Christ. Here he can be taught the abiding realities of life, the abiding presence of God, and the abiding sacrifice of eternity. He discovers there that others have had the same experiences that he has had. He shares his knowledge. He realizes that he is a part of a great force on earth, a part of the kingdom of God. He is challenged to go forth to serve where needed.

Il Duce, in an address, celebrating the twentieth anniversary of fascism, said, "We desire no more talk of brotherhood, sisterhood, cousinship, or other similar relationship. . . . Relations between states are of strength. Woe to the helpless! If the democracies weep because of the end of Czechoslovakia, that is an excellent reason for us not to associate ourselves with their more or less indecent tears. . . ." The fellowship that is found within the church can brook no such common statement as that. We are associated for the purpose of helping each other for the glory of God. We should shed tears that we have not realized that before. We will attend church to bring about a Christian fellowship before God.

Why go to church? We will go to church because the church offers martyrdom. The root meaning of the word 'martyrdom' is simply that of witnessing. And a witness is one who sees and then says. He can not tell of what he has not seen. But what he has seen becomes a fact about which he can talk with conviction. He can not testify to what he has not experienced. But that which he has experienced becomes the living testimony of his soul. The church offers the opportunity to witness to a faith and a fellowship, vital to every individual. But for that the church would die. Every cause that challenges hu-

Farming in Southern Ohio

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

De-Hydrated Foods

I just learned that de-hydrated molasses is on the market. You can buy your sorghum or cane molasses in powder form now and then add water to them before you use them in cooking or serving with meals.

De-Hydrated vegetables are on the market too; in a limited way, which gives vegetable growers some distance from market, a means of storing the surplus, in addition to freezing it and marketing as a frozen product, which is done on a big scale, in the Northwest.

It is hard to raise and store enough vegetables for the winter season on the farm but with markets close at hand, and de-hydrated vegetables and those in almost perfect state of preservation in a frozen condition, a good supply of vegetables for the family is within the reach of most every family, and the price is reasonable.

I was on a large farm recently where the farmer has no garden. He says that they always go to market once a week, and that labor is scarce, and he is always so busy on the farm, that he has little time to do the gardening, so he buys all his vegetables. "That's very unusual and I am not sold on it, nor are thousands of other farmers," I said to him.

"It is unusual," he replied "but for us it is more a matter of necessity, and we think, in our case, good business."

Color in the Kitchen

Here are some ideas about color in the kitchen, gathered from many home makers and nutrition specialists, that I thought would be of interest to our readers:

"If you want to be sure that your family is getting a balanced diet in vegetables, serve those with at least three colors, during the day; red tomatoes, yellow carrots, and green lettuce, for example."

"If you want to make your kitchen more attractive, decide on some color scheme, and then carry it out, in all your additions to your equipment, wherever this is possible."

"Have some blooming plants on window shelves, especially in the south window, and you will be pleased to see how often you and your family stop to admire them." I am reminded now, that someone has well said that flowers have a language all their own, and that the message they give to those who take time to look at them, is always one of hope and good cheer, and we all need that, at times.

Fall Planting of Larkspur

Did you ever try sowing your larkspur seed in the late fall or early winter? You can usually find some time to sow it at this time, when the ground will work easily. Seed sown now will come up earlier than you even expect, and bloom earlier than that sown in the spring.

Be sure and make the bed in a place where there is plenty of sunlight, or the flowers won't do very well. We sowed a bed last spring, where there was too much shade, and the flowers were short and late maturing. Sow in rich loam soil, too if you can find this kind of soil and one usually can. If not, mix some well rotted manure with the soil after you work it, and you will be well repaid in more and larger flowers next year.

Beautiful Picture

A red oak grove in full brown leaf, when all of the other trees were bare, and covered with a thin lacy veil of early morning fog, and the whole scene, dimly lighted, with the first rays of a December sun briefly describes a beautiful picture, that I recently saw, on an early morning drive.

The leaves on the oaks were ripened and brown, but they were holding tight, "as is their custom," and they will hold tight, until early next spring. That's one reason why a red oak is so pretty, as a lawn planting. This tree, covered with snow and ice, and sparkling in the winter sun, early in the morning, is almost as pretty as an evergreen.

This is a hard tree to transplant, but if you will go to the woods, at this season of the year, and select a tree, not too large—about four or five feet tall—dig a ditch about four feet from the trunk, all around it, and then, when the ground freezes hard, transplant the tree with all of the frozen dirt around it, it is pretty apt to grow, and do well on your lawn. You will need to brace the tree, for a few years, until the roots get well established in the new location.

"Inspected Milk Farms"

That's a sign I just saw on a large milk truck going into Cincinnati.

"There is a very good way to advertise milk," I said to the driver of my car. He agreed with me, and was not surprised when I told him that most farmers selling whole sweet milk, followed the milk inspector recommendations carefully, especially in regard to keeping the stables clean.

"The best time to do this work is just after you milk" one very successful dairyman recently pointed out. "And then don't let anything interfere with getting the work done at this time" he added.

I have been on his farm many times and always found the stables well cleaned, except on my last trip, when he told me that unexpected repair work on the stables made him late. "Cleaning the gutter and spreading lime on the floor is the very next thing we'll do," he hastened to say.

We are doing much better dairying in southern Ohio than we did a generation ago. There is no doubt about that, but we can't feed as well as we can. That's why the milk flow drops so much, when the cows go from pasture to dry feed. You've got to be a good feeder to prevent that. We would like to know how you feed to prevent this drop in the milk flow, for the information of our readers. Thanks for the information.

KEEP CALM

THIS is largely a war of nerves. It is also a war of resources; but it takes steady nerves to handle the resources effectively. It is also a war of numbers; yet when people get scared, the more of them there are the worse it is.

So the first business of the rank and file of our people, in arms or at our jobs, in public or in our homes, is to be calm. It's fine to think about the war, trying to understand it, to follow all the angles and the strategy and ups and downs, as if it were a game of baseball or football, though infinitely more important. We Americans, like the British, are particularly fitted for such an attitude, combining sportsmanship with patriotism.

And we have a right, you might even say a duty, to cheer when we're winning. That's good for the soul.

We don't have to cheer when we're losing. We have had serious losses at the start because of the enemy's foul plays, in a game where there is no umpire but God, who bides his time. The rule in such cases has been established by the British. It's "Thumbs up!"

A LAST SPLURGE

THE Christmas shopping is tremendous.

The crowds of buyers thronging the stores are said to be the greatest in history, and their buying breaks all records. Retail trade for last Christmas was estimated at $4,750,000,000. This year it may be nearly a billion dollars more.

Some observers are worried a little about this frenzied splurge. Some think its extravagant, at a time when people should save their money. Some think it's indecent, when there's so much poverty in the world.

But we probably deserve one last splurge. All too soon we'll be coming down to earth and turning thrifty and putting all our spare dollars and pennies into war bonds.

A shortage of golf balls is reported in Germany, putting quite a crimp in Hitler's "strength through joy" movement.

Our government and people from now on are going to be hard-boiled about three countries, and you have three guesses as to which they are.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

TURKEY'S reported rejection of a German bid for a kind of journalistic partnership between the two countries is the subject of a deal of congratulatory comment at the state department, since it's taken as implying a decided coolness on the Turks' part toward the overtures the Nazis are known to have been making in the former's direction.

Turkey, of course, is geographically so situated as to be of tremendous importance to the rival strategies of the Axis and the Anglo-Russian alliance, in their campaign at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. And, aside from its geography, its troops would be well worth having, by one side or the other, for they're recognized as exceptionally formidable scrappers—not very well equipped, but as pugnacious as wildcats. Besides, as to equipment, lease-lending to 'em would be a first-rate idea if they should finally join the Anglo-Russians militarily.

It's known definitely that Berlin recently sent a German newspapermen's delegation to Ankara, the Turkish capital, to frame up, if possible, a bargain by which the Turkish press would plug for help to the Nazis and the German press would boost for all sorts of post-war concessions to Turkey in the event of an Axis victory.

The Turks turned the proposition down, according to accounts from Istanbul, which isn't now the capital, but which used to be, as Constantinople, in the days before Sultan Abdul Hamid's rule was overturned and the existing republic was established, with Ismet Inonu, currently, as president. Turkey seems to have emerged from its revolution, about 18 years ago, as a pretty good democracy.

DECENCY IN ANARCHY

Abolishing Abdul, as sultan, took quite a while, and I was in the country myself, on a news assignment, while the rumpus was in progress. There virtually wasn't any government and lots of fighting was going on, but if you were a non-belligerent and didn't happen to get, accidentally, into anybody's line of fire, nobody harmed you. Plundering and miscellaneous lawlessness were strictly discouraged. It struck me as peculiar that so much decency should prevail in the midst of such anarchy. Louis Einstein, long an American career diplomat, was our charge d'affaires there at the time, and I asked him how he accounted for it.

"It's because," he said, "the Turks are essentially so decent a people."

To that, I've found, all folk who've lived among 'em testify. But don't imagine that they're afraid of anything. They're Moslem fatalists. If your time hasn't come, nothing can hurt you. If it has come, nothing you can do will protect you.

Between what was then Constantinople and Istanbul there's a bridge across the Golden Horn, and on day I had occasion to cross it in the local interpretation of a taxicab—a horse-drawn type of phaeton. On arrival at our end

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON CHANGES

WASHINGTON — Overnight this town has changed. Washington was a boom town last week; this week it's a war town. The change is partly a matter of visible things, partly things that are felt without being seen. . . . Khaki-clad soldiers, with tin hats and bayonets, patrolling two abreast between the White House and the State Department. . . . Darkness over the Capitol dome, where searchlights are blacked out, for the duration. . . . A jam of volunteers for Civilian Defense. . . . New flags delivered at Civilian Defense headquarters, two for LaGuardia's car, two for Mrs. Roosevelt's car, six for the motorcycles. . . . The residence of German correspondent Kurt Sell is raided at night and Sell is taken into custody by F.B.I.

Though the Department of Commerce deals with such innocuous subjects as census figures, its great steel doors are locked, and guards demand credentials at the main entrance.

JAPANESE SPIES

Last summer Congressman Martin Dies had investigators make a thorough survey of Japanese activities along the West Coast. The results eventually were suppressed by the State Department and the President himself, but a brief summary of them indicates that some parts of the United States face a dangerous problem when it comes to fifth column activity.

Hitler had many agents planted through Norway, France and the Low Countries when he attacked, but the Japanese, according to the Dies report, start out with 150,000 of their countrymen in the United States. These are all Japanese citizens, and do not include 50,000 second generation Japanese born in the United States. The Dies report shows that 200 key Japanese have been decorated by the Emperor during the past two years and that many Japanese are in close cooperation with the homeland through the Central Japanese Association which has been directed by consulates in California.

Dies agents have collected photographs of various Japanese truck gardens operated alongside oil tanks and strategic railroads. Also they report 5,000 Japanese residing on terminal islands in Los Angeles harbor, where are located strategic oil tanks. Reeves Field and a shipbuilding company. Oil storage tanks blown up in the harbors would endanger all of the Los Angeles area. The most revealing documents seized by Dies' agents, are maps showing all the U. S. strategic points and fortifications, and a Naval Manual showing size of all American naval vessels.

The Naval Manual, published in 1941, is so up to date that it even shows latest models of U. S. mosquito boats together with the Presidential Yacht Potomac and the plan of U. S. airplane carriers. The location of guns, engine room, etc., is indicated alongside the photograph of each vessel. It must have taken Japanese agents months or years to collect this data.

Doctors Defeat Many Clever Schemes

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

• We are beginning to get crops of stories among the doctors on draft evaders. One that I have heard lately is that a doctor was examining a draftee for the army. "Read the letters on that chart,"

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

asked the doctor. "What chart?" asked the prospective soldier. The examiner said, "Sit down in that chair, take your time and look at the chart." The draftee said, "What chart?"

The doctor left the office in the afternoon and went to the movies and when the lights went up, he was sitting next to the young man he had examined that morning. Quick as a flash the young man turned to him and asked, "Does this bus stop at 39th and Main?"

We had lots of experience in World War I with fellows who weren't mad and didn't want to fight if they could get out of it. It was a hard job to catch them and it was very interesting to see some of the clever tricks used.

Detecting Malingers

The best detector of malingering that I ever knew was an oculist. When he sent for a man who claimed to have bad eyes, he would be seated at a desk and pretend to be busy writing. He would say, "Hang your hat on that nail." The soldier would do so, and he would say "Examination concluded." This was startling to the soldier who wanted to get out of the army, but was based on the fact that the doctor had carefully measured the size of the nail and if the man had good enough eyes to see so small an object at that distance, there was nothing wrong with his eyes.

Another dodge was for the examiner to drop a small instrument on the floor and the soldier, in an effort to please, would quickly pick it up. Now the object was so small that at the distance from the floor to the eyes of a man five feet, eight inches in height, it would not be possible to see it with poor eyesight.

Curing Backaches

In my hospital we had a whole group of men who claimed to have backache. They were all rounded up and taken to the parade ground. They were the saddest looking bunch I have ever seen. They all seemed to be in intense pain, hunched over, straggling along, with arms hanging down listlessly.

We made a great show of examining and measuring them with instruments. Just as we were beginning to finish the examinations, a prearranged artillery charge was shot off on a nearby range. They straightened up and began to run in all directions, all except one poor fellow who really had the backache.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. E.:—"Kindly suggest something for excessive under-arm perspiration and its odor."

Answer: Alum, boric acid and salicylates are commonly used in deodorant-perspiration preparations. A good lotion of this kind has the following formula: Alum, 1/2 dram; boric acid, 1/2 dram; salicylic acid, 1/2 dram; glycerine, 2 1/2 drams; cologne water to 3 ounces.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope, stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

"AT LAST!" said Fred softly, as Susan's voice came over the air.

Miss Alice bent forward, her eyes wide with excitement, her mouth partly open.

"Goodness me!" said Susan's voice. "Oh, I mean—hello, everybody! My, I'm so excited, I plumb forgot my introduction speech. Hello, Aunt Alice, are you listening?"

Miss Alice jumped. "Of course I am!" she said.

Susan went on.

"Excited? Heavens, everybody, who wouldn't be excited? Now I can put a new roof on the barn, and prop up that old rose arbor that's been threatening to topple over for years." Susan paused and laughed. "I mean, if they don't forget to present me my check, like I forgot to say 'Hello, Everybody!' But they won't, not the Dainty Diana Dairies people. They're just too sweet!"

Then the announcer popping in again.

"Is it true, Susan," he asked, "that you get homesick for Esmeralda?"

"Goodness me, yes!" said Susan. "Sometimes I wake up over at the Astor-Waldorf where I'm staying, high in a tower, and am almost sure I can hear poor Esmeralda howling for me."

"I suppose you'll see that Esmeralda gets part of your prize money?"

"She certainly will. A nice shiny bell to go around her neck, so's we can find her when we turn her loose to graze."

"Tell us something else about the farm?"

"Well, let me see," said Susan, just as though she didn't have every single word written out before her. "There's Mr. Lott."

"Who's she?" said the announcer, who was now nothing more nor less than a stooge.

"My pet hen," said Susan, and Fred groaned.

"Well, well! So you have a pet hen?"

"Yes, and she's adorable. Only she's also temperamental—I mean about laying eggs."

"A temperamental hen—that is a rarity."

"She won't lay eggs anywhere but in my favorite chair on the back porch," Susan went on. "And one day she laid two eggs in it."

"No!"

"Yes."

"Twins—no less."

"Oh, go along with you, Mr. Powers—you know hens never have twins."

Laughter up in New York, a funny look on Miss Alice's face down in Ardendale, and a groan doing things to Fred Mosher's insides.

"Of all the piffle," he said, "I ever listened to—this takes the cake."

"I never knew about Susan's pet hen named Mrs. Lott," said Miss Alice.

"—but about the hen's name," said the announcer. "Why do you call her Mrs. Lott?"

"Because she stopped to look back one day," Susan replied, "and got hit by a bag of salt my aunt dropped from the kitchen window."

"I did no such thing!" said Aunt Alice—stiffening.

"Shhhh!" said Fred, and laughed for the first time since the broadcast had begun.

The announcer said: "That's a ducky little outfit you're wearing. I haven't seen a sunbonnet since I was knee-high to a horse."

"Like it?" said Susan. "I made it myself."

"You did do such things!" said Aunt Alice. "I made it."

"Shhhhh!" said Fred.

Susan, like the announcer, went on and on.

Then finally came the moment when Mr. Daniel Van Wert Jones came forward to present the $5,000 check.

"Susan, my dear—I mean, Susan, my child," he began. "Nothing has given me as much pleasure in years as presenting this check to you. I'm not only proud to have you represent Dainty Diana Dairies in this charming fashion, but I'm proud to be here with you, seeing you as a true-to-life representative of that group of busy, innocent girls—the daughters of farmers!"

"Thank you, Mr. Jones," said Susan. "There aren't many of us left now, since girls, like boys, want to rush off to the city. But I hope that when girls on farms get through listening in on us tonight, they will think twice before giving up the rural happiness they have for the urban happiness they hope to have."

"So do I," said Mr. Jones. "I recall a girl who used to live next door to our farm, and—well, we'll not go into that just now. And I laughed self-consciously. 'No! And get on with the business, I now hand you, Miss Susan Farmer, the $5,000 check offered as a prize in the 'Find the Typical Farmer's Daughter Contest,' sponsored by Dainty Diana Dairies, whose toothsome products grace so many tables—"

"Throughout our grand country," said Fred.

The sound of applause was now coming over the air, to be heard by And Susan once more.

"Thank you—thank you—dear Mr. Jones," she said. "And every one connected with the Dainty Diana Dairies, whose products—" She caught herself just in time. "Whose kindness to me has more than touched my heart. Just think, $5,000 for little me. Why, a month ago I didn't think there was that much money in all the world."

More applause. An orchestra playing, and a chorus of male voices singing, "Where Are You Going, My Pretty Maid?" And again the information: "This is Station YAZB. The hour is now 10:30 o'clock, Wundawork Watch Time—the watch used by the Trans-Continental Airways. Listen in again this time next week. Thank you, Randolph Browne, bidding you—good night!"

Fred switched off the radio. He looked at Miss Alice, and Miss Alice looked at him.

"Well?" he said.

"Well," said Miss Alice. "What did you think of it?"

Fred asked.

"Some of it was all right," Miss Alice replied. "Susan really sounded just like she was here in the room with me. But, the idea, saying she made that sunbonnet."

"Don't let that worry you," said Fred. "It was all part of the set-up. He got up, filled and lit his pipe. 'She ought to pack up and come right home,' he said, 'before anything happens to make her feel any siller than I feel right now.'"

"But she won't, on a ten-day visit to New York," Aunt Alice reminded. "She's got half of that left. She couldn't come home now, Fred."

"She could come home tonight if she wanted to," Fred retorted. "There's an express for the south at midnight. I took it once myself."

"But you wouldn't want her to miss seeing the city, would you?"

"Yes," said Fred. "I would."

Miss Alice sat thinking.

"I do miss her," she said. "But I want her to get everything that's coming to her."

"I'm not sure that I do," said Fred, meaningly.

"What are you talking about, Fred?" Aunt Alice said. "You sound sort of—like a villain talking."

Fred smiled mischievously. "Forget it," he said. He shook his head slowly. "I never heard a girl say such silly things."

"I didn't think they were so silly," Aunt Alice said. "I thought she sounded just like all the other girls on the air."

"That," said Fred. "Is just the point."

Then, after telling Miss Alice good night, he got into his car and went for a long ride. He needed to do a lot of thinking—and he needed a lot of wide open space in which to do it.

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, December 13

A DAY OF "mixed influences" astrologically is read from the predominant configurations. While there should be excellent prospects in business, professional and financial engagements, with more than usual social, domestic and emotional activity and happiness, yet there is need for discretion and sagacity with possessions, new ventures, all major projects, since impetuosity, an inclination to indulgent or lavish expenditure, hasty or reckless acts in any direction may prove hazardous and imperil good fortune and security. Be alert to fraud and imposition.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for an exceptionally pleasant, happy, and propitious year, with much personal, social, domestic and affectional satisfaction, with good business and financial prospects and fulfilled ambitions. Yet all calls for discretion, sound judgment, restrained action, vigilance against fraud, misrepresentation, imposition, impetuosity, rashness, over-extravagances and indulgences may undermine most propitious conditions for attaining ambitions and personal pleasures.

A child born on this day should be enterprising, energetic and ambitious, being well endowed for a successful, and useful life, with much personal popularity, prestige and romantic happiness.

For Sunday, December 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope may be very favorable for seeking advancement, promotion or other tokens of preferment and honor at the hands of employers, or for cultivating the friendship of those in influence or social standing. It should be a time for pushing to high goals, especially the intellectual forces. The mind should be brilliant, witty, humorous as well as practical and constructive. Spiritual forces are also stimulated and creative. In all affairs shun extravagance and personal indulgences.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very constructive year, with the mind keyed to high achievement and ambitious objectives. In this the friendly support of elders, employers, superiors and others whose influence is desirable, may be counted upon. Push for promotion, favors, honors and all that bring personal, professional as well as commercial progress and benefit. But in this enthusiasm don't be carried away by extravagance and indulgences.

A child born on this day should have excellent mental and creative abilities and faculties for attaining important position, with honors, favors and the friendship of those in the seats of the mighty. It should set an advanced goal.

D.U.V. Dinner

The Christmas party and annual dinner of the Daughters of Union Veterans held Friday in the Butternut room of Betz restaurant was attended by 37 members and guests. Decorations in keeping with the holiday season were used in the room in addition to American flags and red candles burned on the tables where the turkey dinner was served.

An exchange of gifts was a pleasant feature of the affair.

The program arranged by Mrs. Hattie M. Pickens opened with group singing of "America" and the Salute to the Flag. The program was divided in two parts, sacred and merry-making. Mrs. E. L. Tolbert opened the sacred service with group singing of "Silent Night" by candle light. The lighter part of the entertainment was opened with group singing of "Joy to the World."

Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer pleased the guests with her Christmas reading. Readings by each member of the patriotic committee were enjoyed. The committee includes Mrs. Frank Webbe, Mrs. Lulu Ross Crayne, Mrs. Frank Rader, Mrs. Alice Stout, Mrs. James Trimmer and Mrs. Will Anderson.

Mrs. Charles Stoffer, Mrs. Cora Coffland and Miss Ada Hammel were in charge of the dinner arrangements. Mrs. Rader and Mrs. Webbe, the table decorations, and Miss Anna Kirkwood and Mrs. Irene Newton were members of the reception committee.

FOOTBALL BOYS HEAR ADDRESS OF PAUL BROWN

Monday evening, Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State University addressed an audience of Circleville high school football players, their coaches, school officials, Kiwanians and their ladies. The banquet, given for the school griders, was following by Glen Geib's review of Circleville's football season and Coach Brown's talk and motion pictures of the Ohio State-Southern California game, won by Ohio State 33-0.

Because he was speaking to an audience interested chiefly in high school athletics, Coach Brown told of his former coaching experience at Washington high school, Massillon, Ohio.

He explained Massillon's physical education program which begins in the grades and is carried on through senior high school.

Then the coach started his picture projector and, pointing out and naming players on both Ohio and Southern California's teams, reviewed the entire game. After this, Mr. Brown gave the high spots of the Michigan game.

Coach Brown was obtained as a speaker only because of Renick Dunlap who captained the Ohio State football team in 1895, and who through all these years has maintained his interest in athletics at Ohio State. He has known personally all of the coaches at Ohio State and many of the players.

DEBATERS ENTER SPEECH CONTEST
This week for the first time in several weeks the members of the debate squad were not called together for special meetings. The reason for this rest is that no tournament is scheduled for today.

Last Saturday the squad was at Columbus East high school. The team there met with very little success, losing four out of six of their contests. The varsity affirmatives defeated Hamilton Catholic while losing to Wyoming and Washington C. H. high schools. The varsity negative lost to Hamilton Catholic and Kent State and defeated Bellaire by forfeit.

The previous week the debate team made a clean sweep of all contests at the Ohio State debate and discussion clinic. The varsity affirmative defeated Everett and Fremont high schools; while the negative was successful in debates against Barnesville and Bartlett. Mr. Johnson, who accompanied the squad to both tournaments, also served as judge. The squad this year is composed of William Burget, Marvinne Hennes, Martha Pile and Ned Stout varsity. The reserve squad consists of Zella Ducey, Eleanor Mast, Julius Nash and Charles Will.

STUDENTS HEAR HISTORIC SPEECH
Monday, December 8, the students of Circleville high school assembled in the auditorium at 12:30 to hear President Roosevelt's special message to Congress asking for a declaration of war against Japan. This historic speech of only 500 words will have a lasting effect upon all of us and upon the world.

Thursday at 3:30, the students again assembled. This time they heard Principal J. Wray Henry make several announcements.

C. F. ZAENGLEIN ORGANIZES NEW MUSICAL GROUP

C. F. Zaenglein, instructor of instrumental music in Circleville high school is announcing that in the near future he will form a new band.

Mr. Zaenglein is especially interested in freshmen, seventh and eighth graders, although younger students will be accepted.

It is possible, the instructor pointed out, to become eligible for the high school band within a year if certain requirements are met.

In order to be able to enter the high school band, however, several things are necessary. A student must, of course, have a natural talent in the beginning. He must also have a high scholastic standing. A good instrument is essential for a musician, as is the possession of good physical make-up in order to be able to play the desired instrument. The last requirement is that students attend all rehearsals and practice regularly at home.

The first meeting of the new band will be Friday, January 9, and there will be a meeting every Friday thereafter.

Any person who is interested and has not obtained an application blank may secure them from Mr. Zaenglein. Mr. Zaenglein wishes to assure parents who are in doubt about instruments or who desire additional information, that he will be most happy to discuss their questions with them.

GIRL RESERVES HEAR SPEAKERS

The Reverend Robert T. Kelsey discussed the problem of Attractive Business during the weekly meeting of the Junior Girl Reserves yesterday at 3:45. He asked the question "How can we make our lives more attractive?"

In the course of his talk, the members of the Reserves learned this can be done by dressing up our lives, by shaking ourselves from the dust of ugly living, and by assuming the authority of an inner goal.

Tuesday noon was discussed as the most suitable time to hold the next candy sale. This sale will be in the main entrance of the high school building. The usual price will prevail.

An annual project of the club is to donate some gift to the school. This year they contemplate giving the Home Economics department a water cooler or adding various pieces to complete the dinner set.

Since the annual Christmas party for a group of grade children will be on December 18, the next regular cabinet and club meeting will be set back to December 16 and December 17 respectively.

After a brief business session Thursday, the Senior Girl Reserves heard Mrs. Ray Davis speak. Her subject was "Books".

Mrs. Davis discussed the quality of reading for pleasure and explained how "knowledge acquires power". She talked about different types of literature and urged all the girls to do more reading.

The club appreciates Mrs. Davis' willingness to help them and through the columns of the Red and Black, the girls would like to thank her.

STOOGES DECIDE TO SELL TREES

Tuesday evening the Stooze club voted to sell Christmas trees this year. The trees will be obtained by Otto Gunther, Robert Kline, Frank Geib, and J. L. Chilcote Jr., club adviser. The trees may be purchased at Palm's Grocery, 455 East Main Street, or from any Stooze member. Prices are not available yet.

This money-making scheme presented itself when President Frank Geib informed the boys that the club would place the large Christmas tree in the lower front hall.

Harry Clifton is in charge of finding an orchestra for the annual Stooze dance; he will also set the date for the affair. The last dance was on May 9, 1941.

Tuesday's meeting was held at Frank Geib's home. Because of the basketball game next Tuesday, the club will have its meeting on Wednesday. At present time the meeting place was not known.

—Beat Grove City—

CHRISTMAS TREE DECORATES HALL

As in former years, the Stooze Club will erect and decorate a Christmas tree in the alcove of the front hall in time for the vesper service given by the music groups of the grades and high school.

For several years it has been the custom for the high school students to assemble around the tree each morning during the week before the holidays to sing a few carols before going to their morning classes. In all probability this will be carried out in the same manner this year.

HI-Y HAS SHORT MEETING, MONDAY

Masters Of Troops To Put Special Stress On First Aid

Boy Scouts of the community have added their pledge to those of other local organizations to support the United States in its present crisis.

Robert Scanland, Boy Scout district field executive, announced Saturday that Scout troops throughout the city and county were adopting programs which will make them of more service to the community during the war.

Scoutmasters are placing greater emphasis on their first aid programs, they are stressing quick mobilization of their troops to handle emergencies which might arise and they are making special effort to secure additional membership. The local scout program is a part of a nation-wide project to organize Emergency Service Corps in the Scout organization.

As a part of their new program, Scouts and Scouters of the community will hold an annual meeting at Memorial Hall next Wednesday night. Mothers and fathers of the scouts will be invited and Scout officials expect the crowd to total as many as 300 persons.

The celebration will open at 6:30 with a pot-luck supper, followed by a program of special music, entertainment and an address. Speaker for the program has not yet been secured.

Demonstrations of scouting will be included in the program and Cub Pack 13 of Kingston also will perform. Group singing will be one of the features.

Each Scout troop will be seated at its own table, and special recognition will be made to the troop having the best decorated table.

Local Scouters directing the program are the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, William D. Radcliff, Elmer Stebleton; Earl Smith, L. S. Lytle and Ted Steele. Troop committeemen in the county who will assist are Renick Dunlap of Kingston; Walter Hiatt of Tarrinton; George Finch of Commercial Point; the Rev. V. C. Stump of New Holland and the Rev. Robert S. Meyer of Williamsport.

Directors Meet Friday Eve To Map Plans For Their Celebration

Pumpkin Show directors set October 7, 8, 9 and 10 as the dates for next year's Pumpkin Show when they met Friday in the Council Chamber.

The date will be the week before the Lancaster Fair, as it was this year. A majority of the directors favored the early date because of more favorable weather conditions.

Unusual But True

Regardless of the fact that the cost of living has increased, science and production in the past few years has GREATLY REDUCED THE COST OF FUNERALS.

We beg to inform the public that it is NO LONGER NECESSARY TO THINK IN EXPENSIVE TERMS FOR DECENT FUNERALS AS WE ARE OPERATING ON A MOST ECONOMICAL BASIS, which is pleasing and efficient, and enables us to pass these reductions on to our patrons.

Never before in the history of Modern Funeral Directors have such low prices prevailed. We also wish to inform you that we feature Invalid Car Service to Columbus, for $5.00, local trips at a very minor charge.

May we serve you when such services are needed?

AUTO SKIDS, COLLIDES WITH TRACTOR-TRAILER

The front end of a Ford passenger car driven by Jack Lyory, Charleston, W. Va., was badly damaged Saturday at 12:40 a. m. when it skidded and crashed into a tractor-trailer unit on South Court Street. No one was injured in the accident.

Lyory was traveling north, according to Patrolman Elmer Meriman, when he attempted to pass a tractor-trailer unit owned by the Commercial Motor Freight Company and driven by Paul Smiley, 213 Sixth Street, Ironton. As the Charleston man's car passed the truck, its driver attempted to pull back into his own lane of traffic, his car skidding and turning completely around. The front of the truck missed the car, but the front end of the rear trailer struck it almost head-on.

KUIBYSHEV, USSR, Dec. 13 — With tremendous new Russian victories claimed on the Moscow Front, the Soviet Union once again turned a cold shoulder on reported German peace feelers today. The Communist party newspaper Pravda, commenting on allegations that Russia is ready for peace with the Reich said:

"The Hitlerites are dreaming about peace with the USSR. These dreams will never come true. . . .

"Peace can be concluded only after the German nation chases out Hitler and his gang and only mutually with the United States and Great Britain. "Annihilation of the Hitlerite criminals is the first and absolute condition for peace."

ISLAND OF OAHU PREPARING FOR ANY JAP MOVE

HONOLULU, Dec. 13—The island of Oahu, with its quarter million people, went into its sixth night of blackout last night with no further enemy action reported, and with the citizens of the Pacific paradise rapidly acquainting themselves with martial rule.

Although military and naval authorities released no details, it was fairly authentically known that the U. S. Navy has scored considerable success and that a large area surrounding the Hawaiian Islands is now clear of enemy craft.

However, according to Washington, fighting was still going on around Midway Island, little more than a thousand miles away, and Honolulu remained fully prepared for any repetition of the fierce Jap raid Sunday that left 3,000 casualties on Oahu and precipitated the U. S.-Japanese war.

With Secretary of the Navy Knox on the scene and the islands under the emergency rule of Gen. Walter C. Short as military governor, all of Hawaii was swiftly being transformed into one vast war machine.

Capital City's Morale At High Mark; Fifth Column Suspects Hit

MANILA, Dec. 13—Japanese raiders got a taste of American anti-aircraft accuracy today when two flights of Nipponese bombers attacked the Manila area, shortly after noon.

The first flight dropped explosives on Camp Nichols, but was forced to break formation, with several of its ships apparently hit, when the attack was met by a fierce hail of anti-aircraft shells.

Ten minutes later the second formation sped over the army camp in perfect formation, dropping bombs. It left with its ranks showing many gaps—indicating that defense forces had taken a heavy toll of Jap planes and pilots.

Numerous bombs were spread by the raiders, in a mathematical pattern apparently covering a wide area at the big American defense post.

There was no immediate announcement concerning the raid by American army headquarters. However, a previous Jap bombing attack on Clark Field, north of Manila, was announced.

At the same time a spokesman for Lieut. Gen. Douglas MacArthur said no important ground fighting had been reported.

Gen. MacArthur, commander of the U. S. Far Eastern army, sent a message of encouragement to Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek as American and Filipino forces held Japan's invasion of the Philippines in check.

Manila emerged from its first raidless night in which civilians got their first good sleep since outbreak of the war. It was broken only by a brief alarm at 6 a. m.

Clark Field to the north and Cebu Island far to the south were bombed but no enemy planes appeared over Manila.

Normandie And 12 Other French Ships Are Held

NEW YORK, Dec. 13 — The U. S. Coast Guard today maintained complete charge of the 83,423 ton French liner Normandie and four other vessels in the port of New York following seizure of the ships for the navy and removal of their French crews. Eight other French vessels were being held in other American ports.

The Normandie, a $65,000,000 vessel, was seized at her North River pier yesterday by coast guardmen with loaded rifles and fixed bayonets. The other ships involved were the Mont Everest and the Ile De Re, berthed beside the Normandie, and the Fort Royal and Leopold L. D., tied up elsewhere in New York waters.

Cady, Veteran of Philippine Action, Says Island Will Be Tough to Take

By Austin Showman

Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Guam, Japan and China—they all are familiar places to Mayor W. B. Cady who spent five years in their vicinity and probably knows as much about them as anyone in Circleville.

The Japanese are intelligent people, but they can be beaten, and the United States' most effective weapon against them will be the American bomber, the mayor believes.

On four different occasions Mayor Cady visited Nagasaki, Japan—in 1902, 1903, 1905 and 1910. Dwellings in Japan are made of paper and incendiary bombs dropped in their midst would be highly effective. An air base at Vladivostok, Siberia, would enable American bombers to fly over Japan, drop their "eggs" and return to the base in a single operation, the mayor contends.

It is not at all surprising to Mayor Cady that the Japs made a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor Sunday, since the "Diamond Head" blocks the view so that Japanese planes could be over the harbor before they were sighted.

The next few weeks will see the United States rapidly coming to the front with her sea power, Mayor Cady believes. Back in the early 1900s when he went to the Philippines, it took 26 sailing days to reach Manila from San Francisco. Although modern ships are faster, a large portion of the United States fleet probably has not yet arrived in the combat zone. When the ships do arrive it will be a different story, the former army sergeant maintains.

Landing troops on the Philippines is not difficult for the Japs, since only a very small portion of the island area is fortified. On most of the islands, the jungle runs to the water's edge. Troops could land and disappear into the jungle, but for them to take strategic points on the islands is another story.

Circleville's mayor spent 24 years and three days in the army. He was a trumpeter, a clerk in the quartermaster's department and an officer in charge of mess at Alcatraz, which then, 1905, was an army prison.

While at the army post Balanigigi in the Philippines, he was among those detailed to bury 43 white enlisted men, three officers and nearly 700 natives killed in a massacre.

Terms Of Up To 22 Years Loom; Duquesne Leader Of Espionage Ring

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Fourteen men today faced prison terms ranging up to 22 years after being found guilty last midnight of espionage in behalf of the German government.

The defendants were charged in indictments returned last July 15 with having conspired to transmit United States defense secrets to German government agents, and with failure to register as representatives of an alien government. Thirty three persons were indicted originally, but 17 pleaded guilty prior to the trial and two others entered guilty pleas after being brought into court.

KILLER OF GOLF QUEEN AND HER MOTHER TO DIE

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 13—The first conviction was recorded with a recommendation for the death penalty today as the state moved swiftly against two others for the sensational murder of Golf Queen Marion Miley, 27, and her 50-year-old mother, Elsa.

Robert H. Anderson, 36, proprietor of a cheap night spot in Louisville, was found guilty of the murder of Miss Miley last night by a jury which had deliberated for more than 24 hours.

The jury recommended death in the electric chair for Anderson. In Kentucky, the jury's recommendation is not mandatory, and may be modified by Judge Chester Adams when he passes sentence, probably late next week.

Anderson was the only one of the three charged with murder in the case who had consistently maintained his innocence, according to officers. Confessions, which involved Anderson, have been attributed to Tom Penney and to Raymond Baxter, the other two.

Penney and Anderson, both ex-convicts, were accused of invading the Lexington Country Club, of which Mrs. Miley was manager, on the night of September 29. They fatally shot both the women when they awakened and resisted them, and then robbed the place of approximately $150.

Baxter, a greenskeeper at the club, was accused of helping to plan the robbery.

FIVE DEAD, FOUR MISSING IN TNT PLANT DISASTER

BURLINGTON, Ia., Dec. 13 — Five known dead and four missing were counted today in an explosion which blew one entire story from the three-floor No. 1 TNT melting plant at the government's Iowa ordnance works.

Suspicious of sabotage were queried by Lieut. Col. K. F. Adamson, commanding officer at the plant. He said the explosion, which rocked the country for miles around, was accidental, but its exact cause has not been determined.

Four of the dead were identified as Ellsworth Schilderstrom of Agency, Ia., P. J. Pettit of Lansing, Ia., John K. Cummings of Bunch, Ia., and Woodrow W. Wehrle of Rome, Ia. A fifth body could not be identified.

The explosion let go yesterday in a room where TNT is melted by steam heat for mixing with other compounds to form the explosive which is put into bombs and shells.

The entire top floor of the large building was blown away, and the rest of the structure was wrecked. Nineteen of the injured—estimated at more than two score—were still hospitalized in Burlington today.

Two of the injured, Lyle Teal of Keosauqua, Ia., and Wilbert Tock of Oakville, Ia., were not expected to recover. Bodies of the missing were still sought in the debris today.

The plant, occupying 20,000 acres outside Burlington, is owned by the government but is operated under Army supervision by Day and Zimmerman, Inc., of Philadelphia.

BRITISH DESTROY ITALIAN CRUISER AND HIT OTHERS

LONDON, Dec. 13—One Italian cruiser was sunk in the central Mediterranean before dawn today and another severely damaged, the admiralty announced.

In addition, the admiralty revealed, one torpedo boat was severely damaged and an "E" boat sunk.

There was no damage to British vessels which made the attack and no British casualties, it was said.

The attack was made by the destroyers Sikh, Legion, Maori and Isaac Sweers. They contacted the Italian vessels while patrolling in the central Mediterranean area.

The British force immediately attacked with torpedoes and gunfire.

Both Italian cruisers were hit immediately, with the leading cruiser bursting into flames and burning fiercely. Later it blew up.

ARMY TO START AIR BASE WORK

Engineers Appear Friday To Make Tests For Cement Runways

That the U. S. Army will not delay its construction of an air base in the Groveport-Lockbourne-Ashville district was indicated Saturday when residents of the community reported that Army Engineers had appeared on the site Friday and started to make preliminary surveys.

Information coming from the district said that the engineers were making borings for cement runways for airplanes. One runway, reports said, would be 7,000 feet long and 500 feet wide and would cover approximately 1,500 acres.

The Army announced last week that it has designated the district, which is in Franklin County, bordering on the northern Pickaway line, for a huge air base to train pilots.

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Dec. 13—The Batavia radio broadcast an unconfirmed report that 4,000 Japanese soldiers were drowned when submarines of the Netherlands Navy sank four Nipponese troopships off the Malay coast.

SINGAPORE, Dec. 13 — Destruction of four Japanese troop ships off the coast of Malaya by Netherlands East Indies submarines was announced by British military headquarters in Singapore today.

The four vessels were loaded with troops when they were sent to the bottom by the sudden attack.

The troop-laden transports were sunk last night.

The British announcement said:

"Submarines of the Netherlands Navy sank four troop ships off Patani (on the east coast of Malaya)."

"The general situation in northern Malaya has not changed in the last 12 hours."

"The troop ships were fully loaded and steaming south. The submarines were operating under orders of the British naval commander-in-chief."

Announcement that the situation remains unchanged in northern Malaya indicated the British imperial forces there are holding back the Japanese attack.

Singapore Big Objective

Heavy and confused fighting was reported raging in the Malayan interior as the British slugged it out with the Japanese, whose major objective is the great British far eastern base of Singapore.

British Royal Air Force planes hammered the Nipponese forces in a continuing series of sharp air assaults that got under way in force yesterday with an attack on Singgora on the Thailand coast.

One British air attack was declared to have played havoc with 60 Japanese barges, loaded with troops, off the Malaysian Coast.

Swooping within 50 feet of the water, British and Australian airmen sprayed the Japanese with a death-dealing hail of machine gun fire that left the Japanese crouching helplessly in the barges. Many were left struggling in the water.

(United States authorities announced Japanese bombers had attacked the British refugee ship Anhui in Manila's outer harbor on Wednesday. The ship, carrying 470 British civilians from the Orient, finally docked safely although it was hit nine times. No fatalities were reported but a number of fenders and the difficult terrain. "I take this occasion," Gen. MacArthur messaged the embattled Chinese commander, "to send you this message of greeting. In sympathy and spirit I have ranged by your side from the beginning of your epic struggle for freedom. That spiritual conception has now become a reality and I send you the warm handclasp of a comrade in arms."

Major Legrande Diller, Gen. MacArthur's press spokesman, issued a brief communiqué this morning:

"In the air the enemy has bombed Cebu and Clark Field, on the ground there has been only sporadic and unimportant action. Earlier, Major Diller had said: "The night (Friday night) was uneventful. There was local activity in the areas which have been occupied by the enemy. The enemy force at Legaspi has not been reinforced."

Manila's morale was excellent today, with the capital rapidly growing impervious to air raid alarms. A vast improvement has been made in coordination of military and civil defense measures, on the military side, U. S. and Philippine airmen were keeping Japanese bombers on the run, while U. S. warships scoured the seas for fleeing Jap naval units, and parachute troops and landing parties were kept in check.

In blacked-out Manila last night, sentries' rifles blazed in the black streets when red flares were lit, apparently by Fifth Columnists. Soldiers and Philippine constabulary troops, acting on orders, also fired on several houses showing lights.

Friday was marked by the largest flight to date of Jap raiders over the island of Luzon, but defending forces also scored their largest bag of enemy planes to date, and the raiders were kept scattered and their damage held to a minimum.

SOLONS DEBATE USE OF YOUNGER MEN AS TROOPS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—Congress moved swiftly today on the Army's request that all American men from 18 to 64 inclusive be registered in a great pool of manpower for the war.

Despite a smattering of opposition—the first yet expressed in Congress to any war measure—leaders predicted early passage of the bill which would permit registration of the 18 to 64 group and designate those between 19 and 48 inclusive as liable for active service.

Both Senate and House Military Affairs Committees were called into Saturday sessions in an effort to speed work on the measure to get between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 men to sign up for Uncle Sam.

The Senate group launched its work by calling Col. Leonard P. Ayers, World War statistician, while the House committee was to receive a statement from Secretary of War Stimson and testimony from Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, and Brig. Gen. Wade H. Haislip, deputy chief of staff in charge of personnel.

"I don't favor drafting men below 21," Rep. Sparkman (D) Ala., a member of the committee, said. "They've got to show me that we really need them, and I don't think we do. After all, in the World War we raised an army of between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 and never drafted anyone below 21."

Rep. Elston (R) Ohio, another committee member, also said he would have to be shown the necessity for drafting "youngsters."

Those who had conferred with War Department officials, however, said that there was no immediate plan to call for the service of anyone below 21.

FULL BLACKOUT IN 'FRISCO GOES OVER TWO HOURS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 13—Eye-witnesses to last night's dramatic war-time blackout on San Francisco, and a swath of northern California, today described the experience in superlatives such as "impressive" and "thrilling."

For two hours and thirty-five minutes, from 7:25 p. m. until 10 p. m. the San Francisco Bay area, with its population of 2,000,000, was plunged into total darkness.

Normal activities were brought to a dead standstill. Business halted. Traffic froze. Pedestrians huddled in doorways and peered into the star-lit sky. People sat expectantly in blacked-out rooms or their homes. All radios were silenced.

The only announcement from military authorities was a statement at Fourth Army headquarters that "unidentified planes" had been picked up by detectors of the Fourth Interceptor Command. No bombs were dropped. The populace remained calm.

SOUTHERN BASE HAS BLACK OUT IN RAID SCARE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13—The naval air station at Jacksonville was blacked out and all personnel was turned out for instant duty for nearly three hours this morning.

The blackout went into effect at 4:30 a. m. and was lifted at 7:14 a. m. Airplanes were warned up for immediate take-off, but all remained on the ground.

Capt. Charles P. Mason, speaking for the station, declined to reveal the exact cause for the alert, but he said "it was no test."

NEWPORT, R. I., Dec. 13—The first real blackout of the war was ordered today for this important naval and torpedo base and all personnel responded for active duty.

The blackout was ordered at 3:40 a. m., and the all clear signal was given a half hour later.

FORD TO BAN PUBLIC FROM ITS FACTORIES

DETROIT, Dec. 13—Due to the vast amount of defense work being done by the Ford Motor Company, its plants will be closed to the public "for the duration," it was announced today by company officials.

The rotunda, housing an extensive defense display, will remain open, however. Officials said 121,896 persons inspected the plant so far in 1941—an average of 2500 per working day.

killed large numbers of German troops and captured many prisoners and much booty.

The communique also claimed Soviet victories in the Kalinin Area northwest of Moscow, including the smashing of the 306th German infantry regiment.

On the Southern Front, Soviet authorities said, Russian forces crossed the Mius river at several points in the course of their advance west of Taganrog.

"Major Disaster"

But chief attention centered on the blood-soaked Moscow defense zone, where the flight of the Germans was described as a major disaster for the German armies and the greatest flow the Nazi military machine has yet suffered.

Northwest of Moscow, charging Russian troops were reported driving a pincer encirclement ring around the strategic town of Klin on the Moscow-Leningrad railway. A high command communique said 23 divisions had been smashed, routed, encircled or driven into retreat.

Some German divisions were declared to have been trapped in preparation for forthcoming battles of annihilation as Red army Cossack units broke through the Nazi lines, cutting the German communication lines.

The special announcement was published under the heading: "Fiasco of German plans for surrounding and capturing Moscow."

It said that on November 16 the Germans sent 13 tank divisions, 33 infantry divisions and five motorized infantry divisions into the second general offensive on the Moscow Front with the intention of striking from three directions and capturing the city. On December 6, it stated, "our troops launched counter-offensives against the enemy flanks."

Both enemy flank groups were said to have been routed. The communique gave a long list of towns captured or surrounded and enemy divisions smashed or put to flight.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—A report was current in diplomatic quarters in Washington today that Admiral Francois Darlan, Vichy premier, will soon order the French fleet to convoy all French merchant ships across the Mediterranean between Algiers and the mainland of France.

Sinking of the French steamer St. Denis early this week reportedly by a British submarine off the Balearic Islands is expected to be cited by Darlan as the reason for ordering the French Navy to escort all French merchant ships over the Marseilles-Algiers route.

Darlan is expected to declare that Vichy cannot permit the link between France proper and Algiers to be severed by the operations of the British navy.

Cited As First Step

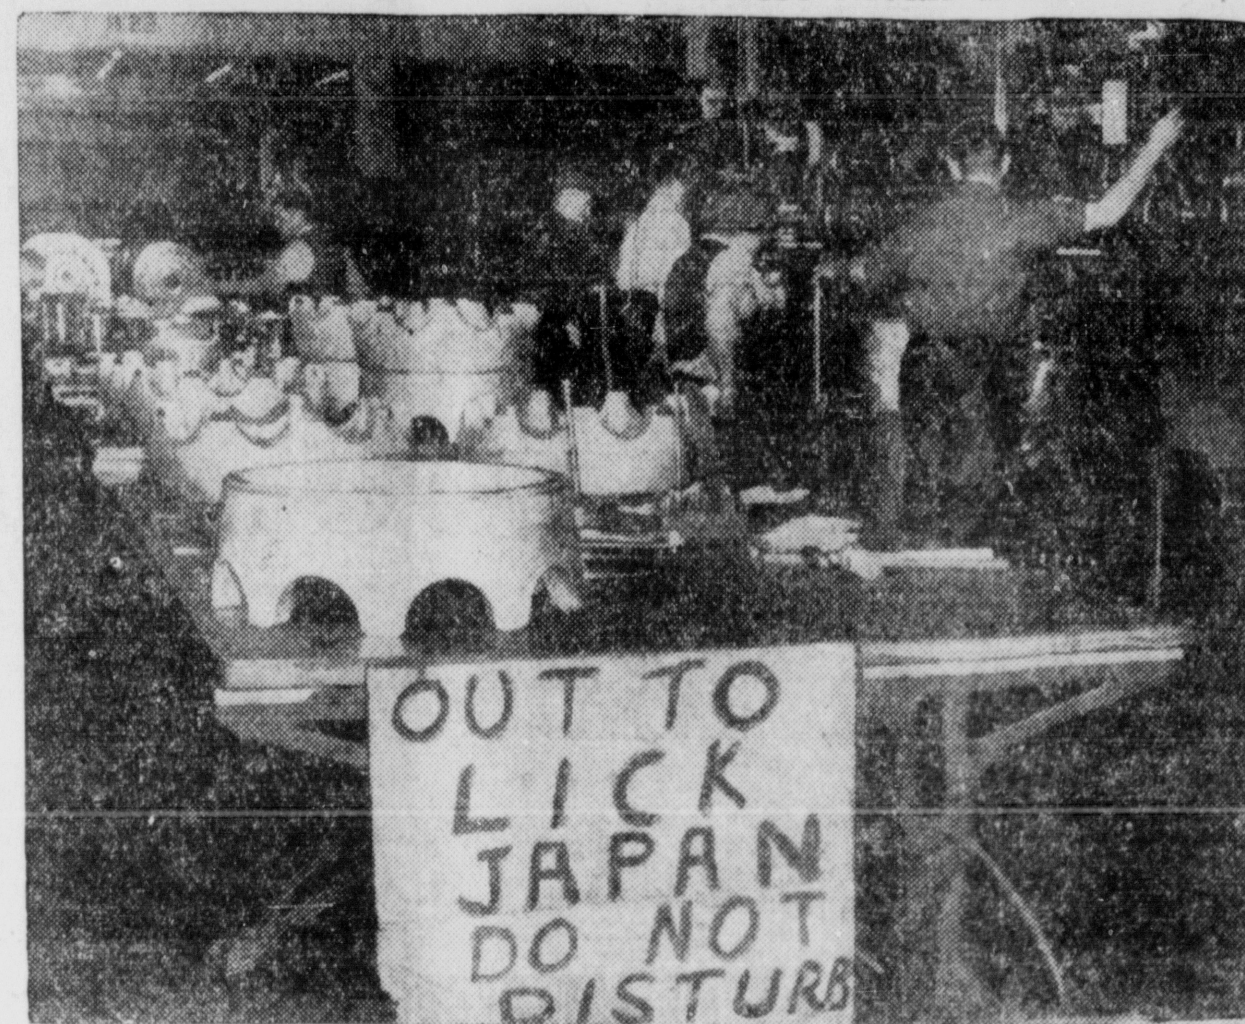

If the Vichy government orders the French Navy to start conveying all French merchant ships between Algiers and Marseilles, the indications are such action will be regarded by the American government as the first step toward using the fleet in the interests of the axis.

Great Britain is understood to feel that unless a close watch is kept on French shipping between Africa and France proper, it will be used in the interests of the axis. London already has charged that a substantial part of the cargo carried from Africa to France by French shipping find their way to German hands.

It is for this reason that the British claim they have been stopping the French ships. In the case of the St. Denis, there are conflicting versions of what happened. The British claim the ship was fired on because it failed to heed a warning to stop for search. The French answered that before it had a chance to stop two torpedoes hit it.

Night and day operations already are proceeding at the Pratt & Whitney airplane engine plant, while construction crews on the Willow Run bomber plant also are on the new schedule, keeping right up with the flow of materials.

Library Notes

The Longhorns — By Frank Dobie. The Texas Longhorn made more history than any other breed of cattle the world has ever known. The Longhorns were pioneers in a hard, strange land. This is their story, told by a born teller of tales, who knows that legend and folklore are proper parts of history. It is the story, too, of the men the Longhorn brought into being—the Texas cowboys who rode over the rim with all the energy, insolence and pride of the booming west.

Mr. Dobie tells of the Spanish Conquistadores, who brought their cattle with them; of ranching in turbulent times; of "Mavericks and Mavericks" and the abrupt justice of the rope. He catches the terrible excitement of the stampede, the poetry of the play of lightning on a sea of seething horns. He writes absorbingly of titanic bull fights on the range, ghost steers, fabulous treks and Indian torture.

The book contains many very attractive illustrations.

Breads And More Breads — By Sumption and Ashbrook. Recipes for breads of many kinds collected from recipes of many nations. This volume gives recipes for almost any type of bread, roll, cookie, or cake known to man. Banana nut bread, potato doughnuts, rusk (from a Chillicothe, Ohio, recipe), zwieback, parkin, rice bread, butter braids, mandel bread, drielkonigenbrood (king's bread: Holland), gingerbread, blini, pittaids, pancakes, pumpernickel, tortillas, kaffee kaka, and baps are a few kinds mentioned.

Along with the recipes and many suggestions given in the introduction, the author presents a history of bread, its use and manner of preparation. One of the sections in the book carries this title: "Maybe you would like to try these—" and suggestions follow under these heads: "If you are a beginner," "If you are an experienced cook," "If you want something inexpensive," and "If you do not mind the expense."

I Was A Head-Hunter — By Cummings, Lewis V. Setting forth from Bogota with three little donkeys, Lewis Cummings traveled alone through unknown regions of South America until he came to a great red jungle river. There, on the flooded Guaviare, he was befriended by a tribe of head-hunting Indians from whom he learned to hunt, to fish, to shrink human heads. So complete was his acceptance by the tribe that he not only participated in their sacred and cruel initiation ceremonies, but afterwards was married to no less than three daughters of the tribe in a single ceremony.

This is more than an exciting

Tigers Defeat London In Rough 29-16 Cage Game

Forty-Two Personal Fouls Called In Contest; Three Field Goals Scored On Local Defense

With one victory behind them, Circleville High Tigers go out after another Saturday night when they invade Grove City to meet Peter Trego's Greyhounds. The Tigers came home from London late Friday night with a 29-16 victory tucked into the record book after a game that was close for three periods and then became a rout.

Twenty-four personal fouls were called on Circleville, Sabine, Geib and Moorehead leaving the game on personals, and 18 were called on London, Cain and Powers being lost for violations.

The Tigers were beaten in their first two tests with Lancaster and Greenfield McClain, but took London in an impressive manner. The home team was gunning for the Red and Black and made things tough for a while, but ability of the Tiger defense to hold down Powers and Cain, the Red Raiders two scoring threats, halted London's offensive. Powers had not been held under 10 points this season, but Friday evening he got two.

The Tigers grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first period, but trailed 5-6 as the quarter ended. Three second quarter buckets gave the Red and Black an 11-8 advantage as the half ended.

London took over as the third adventure story or a travel book; it is a detailed account of a stone-age civilization untouched by white men as seen by one man who learned the language, joined the tribe, and really lived as a savage.

Your Dreams and What They Mean—By Clement Wood. Originally a lawyer, next a judge, and later a teacher, the author of this book has devoted most of his time to studies in advanced psychology during recent years; he is widely known for his dream articles syndicated to many American newspapers. The material in the present volume is drawn from reports of dreams submitted to him from week to week, from studies carried on by himself, and from dream cases furnished by qualified analysts in the same field. It is an interesting, readable and entertaining little book which presents an unusually clear picture of dream interpretation in its simpler aspects.

You and Heredity—By Amram Schienfeld. The fundamental facts of human heredity are presented in this book in clear, nontechnical language with many illustrations and diagrams. It is designed for the average reader. Chapters discuss heredity diseases, and defects, the inheritance of characteristics, talents, personality traits and intelligence, the methods of predicting their probable appearance in the child, and the practical value of eugenics. An original study of musical talent is included.

The Oxford Companion to American Literature — By J. D. Hart. A ready reference book similar to the Oxford Companion to English Literature. It is arranged in the dictionary manner giving summaries of novels, essays, and plays; literary biographies and literary movements with related topics are included. A valuable special feature is the chronological index.

BRICKER PUTS APPROVAL ON BIBLE OBSERVANCE

Governor John W. Bricker endorses the observance of Universal Bible Sunday on Sunday, December 14.

As a fitting prelude to the President's address to be given to the nation on December 15 in celebration of the adoption 150 years ago of the Bill of Rights, the churches of the country will observe Universal Bible Sunday on December 14 for the philosophy behind the Bill of Rights stands squarely upon the Bible. The American Bible Society which has sponsored Universal Bible Sunday for many years, and is this year itself celebrating its 125th anniversary, has suggested, as the theme for the day "The Light Shines in the Darkness." This adaptation from the fifth verse of the First Chapter of John's Gospel points to the encouraging fact that against the tragic background of the present world's life the Bible is better known over wider areas of the world and in greater demand than ever before. Even in Germany the Prussian Bible Society of Berlin reports sales of the Bible of 289,013 copies for 1940 as against 127,234 in 1938. China, in the midst of her lengthening struggle and her deepening poverty has become the world's largest customer of copies of the Christian Scriptures.

In addition to the celebration in the churches there will be hundreds of local broadcasts throughout the nation. The Columbia Broadcasting Company's popular Sunday morning program, "Wings Over Jordan" will present Rev. F. C. Jenkins, well-known preacher of Columbus, who will speak of the significance of Universal Bible Sunday at 9:30 a. m. The Columbia network will also carry for the third successive year the voice of Senator James J. Davis.

Why Go To Church

By the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey

The lamps of the world are going out one by one, but there is one light that must be kept burning. In the black-outs that will be imposed upon cities the lamps of God must be lighted in the lives of men and women. For there is danger that in the confusion of the hour the black-out of despair will take precedent. With in the past week the church has been confronted with the task of building Christian morale. At that task it will be victorious.

The church was born in the midst of a totalitarian state. For over nineteen hundred years it has been persecuted and beaten. It has had to suffer a capacity for martyrdom. From earliest days a man has had to be a hero to be it's member. With Christ as the Supreme Hero Christian men and women of the society of the church will be heroes in the strife of these days.

Our Christian civilization can not allow the lamps of God to go out. And the lamp of God that burns the most brightly is the lamp of the church. Heroes with in the church will see that that lamp is necessary not only to the nation but to the community and to the home. It is a morale builder. It will furnish zeal, spirit, confidence, and hope. Nowhere else can one find that.

The church is best fitted for this task. Its organization is set-up. Its ministry is at work. Its message is the message that is needed at this hour. More and more people will avail themselves of its privileges through the present darkness. The church has been at its best always when the outlook was the most bleak, courage most needed, and hope most in demand.

Why go to church? We will go to church because the church offers an adequate faith for this hour. It is a faith that was offered once to just as dark a world as the day in which we live. It is a faith with many historic traditions yet possessing a contemporary adaptability. It is a faith that will adjust itself to the need of the individual.

This faith is from above, a divine revelation, a gift. It is to be put to use. It has never failed, it has never been swept away; but it has endured and fostered long-range victory.

Some go to church as a result of the force of habit. Some attend to impress their fellows. But when an individual senses the need of the church, he will always be found in his pew worshipping his God. He is there for a purpose, he realizes his own inadequacy; his inadequacy is answered in God. When one comes to be helped, then one is helped. A sincere desire to better one's self is a prerequisite for church attendance.

Today man will need God more than ever. He will have to depend on the eternal assurances that only God can promise. He will be driven to the existing necessity of God in his individual life. When that moment comes he will find the church waiting to give him the very desire of his life. The church can not force him into its sanctuary, but he will come on his own free will when he sees its necessity. The church is necessary because it teaches a faith.

"Why go to church?" We will go to church because the church offers a fellowship that is so needed when all is so dark. Is man a unit who can light his own path by his own means? Can he live alone and like it? Or is he a member of God's society and as such possesses a definite responsibility to God, his Creator? Man is not a unit to himself. In the full sense of the word, man can not live alone and like it. He discovers meaning in fellowship with God and with his fellows.

I have said many worship God alone without the influence of the church. But will he? Within the church he worships with men and women who are bound together in a common purpose in Jesus Christ. Here he can be taught the abiding realities of life, the abiding presence of God, and the abiding sacrifice of eternity. He discovers there that others have had the same experiences that he has had. He shares his knowledge. He realizes that he is a part of a great force on earth, a part of the kingdom of God. He is challenged to go forth to serve where needed.

Il Duce, in an address, celebrating the twentieth anniversary of fascism, said, "We desire no more talk of brotherhood, sisterhood, cousinship, or other similar relationship. . . . Relations between states are those of strength. Woe to the helpless! If the democracies weep because of the end of Czechoslovakia, that is an excellent reason for us not to associate ourselves with their more or less indecent tears. . . ." The fellowship that is found within the church can brook no such common statement as that. We are associated for the purpose of helping each other for the glory of God. We should shed tears that we have not realized that before. We will attend church to bring about a Christian fellowship before God.

Why go to church? We will go to church because the church offers martyrdom. The root meaning of the word "martyrdom" is simply that of witnessing. And a witness is one who sees and then says. He can not tell of what he has not seen. But what he has seen becomes a fact about which he can talk with conviction. He can not testify to what he has not experienced. But that which he has experienced becomes the living testimony of his soul. The church offers the opportunity to witness to a faith and a fellowship, vital to every individual. But for that the church would die. Every cause that challenges hu-

Farming in Southern Ohio

BY THOMAS E. BEERY

De-Hydrated Foods

I just learned that de-hydrated molasses is on the market. You can buy your sorghum or cane molasses in powder form now and then add water to them before you use them in cooking or serving with meals.

De-hydrated vegetables are on the market too; in a limited way, which gives vegetable growers some distance from market, a means of storing the surplus, in addition to freezing it, which is done on a big scale, in the Northwest.

It is hard to raise and store enough vegetables for the winter season on the farm but with markets close at hand, and de-hydrated vegetables and those in almost perfect state of preservation in a frozen condition, a good supply of vegetables for the family is within the reach of most every family, and the price is reasonable.

I was on a large farm recently where the farmer has no garden. He says that they always go to market once a week, and that labor is scarce, and he is always so busy on the farm, that he has little time to do the gardening, so he buys all his vegetables. "That's very unusual and I am not sold on it, nor are thousands of other farmers," I said to him.

"It is unusual," he replied "but for us it is more a matter of necessity, and we think, in our case, good business."

Color in the Kitchen

Here are some ideas about color in the kitchen, gathered from many home makers and nutrition specialists, that I thought would be of interest to our readers:

"If you want to be sure that your family is getting a balanced diet in vegetables, serve those with at least three colors, during the day; red tomatoes, yellow carrots, and green lettuce, for example."

"If you want to make your kitchen more attractive, decide on some color scheme, and then carry it out, in all your additions to your equipment, wherever this 'have' is possible."

"Have some blooming plants on window shelves, especially in the south window, and you will be pleased to see how often you and your family stop to admire them." I am reminded now, that someone has well said that flowers have a language all their own, and that the message they give to those who take time to look at them, is always one of hope and good cheer, and we all need that, at times.

Fall Planting of Larkspur

Did you ever try sowing your larkspur seed in the late fall or early winter? You can usually find some time to sow it at this time, when the ground will work easily. Seed sown now will come up earlier than you even expect, and bloom earlier than that sown in the spring.

Be sure and make the bed in a place where there is plenty of

A red oak grove in full brown leaf, when all of the other trees were bare, and covered with a thin lacy veil of early morning fog, and the whole scene, dimly lighted, with the first rays of a December sun briefly describes a beautiful picture, that I recently saw, on an early morning drive.

The leaves on the oaks were ripened and brown, but they were holding tight, "as is their custom", and they will hold tight, until early next spring. That's one reason why a red oak is so pretty, as a lawn planting. This tree, covered with snow and ice, and sparkling in the winter sun, early in the morning, is almost as pretty as an evergreen.

This is a hard tree to transplant, but if you will go to the woods, at this season of the year, and select a tree, not too large—about four or five feet tall—dig a ditch about four feet from the trunk, all around it, and then, when the ground freezes hard, transplant the tree with all of the frozen dirt around it, it is pretty apt to grow, and do well on your lawn. You will need to brace the tree, for a few years, until the roots get well established in the new location.

"Inspected Milk Farms"

That's a sign I just saw on a large milk truck going into Cincinnati.

"There is a very good way to advertise milk," I said to the driver of my car. He agreed with me, and was not surprised when I told him that most farmers selling whole sweet milk, followed the milk inspector recommendations carefully, especially in regard to keeping the stables clean.

"The best time to do this work is just after you milk" one very successful dairyman recently pointed out. "And then don't let anything interfere with getting the work done at this time" he added.

I have been on his farm many times and always found the stables well cleaned, except on my last trip, when he told me that unexpected repair work on the station made him late. "Cleaning the gutter and spreading lime on the floor is the very next thing we'll do," he hastened to say.

We are doing much better dairying in southern Ohio that we did a generation ago. There is no doubt about that, but we are not feeding as well as we can. That's why the milk flow drops so much, when the cows go from pasture to man life for its acceptance carries a potential demand for martyrs. False faiths, false isms, false philosophies demand the giving of lives unstintingly and even unto death. But the church offers the true faith, the true ism, the true philosophy. For that we must make every sacrifice. Already fellow Christians in other lands are pouring out their last drop of devotion for our most help-cause. We can demand nothing less.

A noted musician visiting in America, was invited by his host to attend church service. He replied, "I will attend church on one condition—that you will take me to hear some one who will dare me to do the impossible."

That is the challenge of the church today. Dare to venture the impossible by means of the faith, the fellowship, and the martyrdom that the church offers.

KEEP CALM

THIS is largely a war of nerves. It is also a war of resources; but it takes steady nerves to handle the resources effectively. It is also a war of numbers; yet when people get scared, the more of them there are the worse it is.

So the first business of the rank and file of our people, in arms or at our jobs, in public or in our homes, is to be calm. It's fine to think about the war, trying to understand it, to follow all the angles and the strategy and ups and downs, as if it were a game of baseball or football, though infinitely more important. We Americans, like the British, are particularly fitted for such an attitude, combining sportsmanship with patriotism.

And we have a right, you might even say a duty, to cheer when we're winning. That's good for the soul.

We don't have to cheer when we're losing. We have had serious losses at the start because of the enemy's foul plays, in a game where there is no umpire but God, who bides his time. The rule in such cases has been established by the British. It's "Thumbs up!"

A LAST SPLURGE

THE Christmas shopping is tremendous. The crowds of buyers thronging the stores are said to be the greatest in history, and their buying breaks all records. Retail trade for last Christmas was estimated at $4,750,000,000. This year it may be nearly a billion dollars more.

Some observers are worried a little about this frenzied splurge. Some think it's extravagant, at a time when people should save their money. Some think it's indecent, when there's so much poverty in the world.

But we probably deserve one last splurge. All too soon we'll be coming down to earth and turning thrifty and putting all our spare dollars and pennies into war bonds.

A shortage of golf balls is reported in Germany, putting quite a crimp in Hitler's "strength through joy" movement.

Our government and people from now on are going to be hard-boiled about three countries, and you have three guesses as to which they are.

WORLD AT A GLANCE —By— Charles P. Stewart

TURKEY'S reported rejection of a German bid for a kind of journalistic partnership between the two countries is the subject of a deal of congratulatory comment at the state department, since it's taken as implying a decided coolness on the Turks' part toward the overtures the Nazis are known to have been making in the former's direction.

Turkey, of course, is geographically so situated as to be of tremendous importance to the rival strategies of the Axis and the Anglo-Russian alliance, in their campaign at the eastern end of the Mediterranean. And, aside from its geography, its troops would be well worth having, by one side or the other, for they're recognized as exceptionally formidable scrappers—not very well equipped, but as pugnacious as wildcats. Besides, as to equipment, lease-lending to 'em would be a first-rate idea if they should finally join the Anglo-Russians militarily.

It's known definitely that Berlin recently sent a German newspapermen's delegation to Ankara, the Turkish capital, to frame up, if possible, a bargain by which the Turkish press would plug for help to the Nazis and the German press would boost for all sorts of post-war concessions to Turkey in the event of an Axis victory.

The Turks turned the proposition down, according to accounts from Istanbul, which isn't now the capital, but which used to be, as Constantinople, in the days before Sultan Abdul Hamid's rule

WASHINGTON CHANGES

WASHINGTON — Overnight this town has changed. Washington was a boom town last week; this week it's a war town. The change is partly a matter of visible things, partly things that are felt without being seen. . . . Khaki-clad soldiers, with tin hats and bayonets, patrolling two abreast between the White House and the State Department. . . . Darkness over the Capitol dome, where searchlights are blacked out, for the duration. . . . A jam of volunteers for Civilian Defense. . . . New flags delivered at Civilian Defense headquarters, two for LaGuardia's car, two for Mrs. Roosevelt's car, six for the motor-cycles. . . . The residence of German correspondent Kurt Sell is raided at night and Sell is taken into custody by F.B.I.

Though the Department of Commerce deals with such innocuous subjects as census figures, its great steel doors are locked, and guards demand credentials at the main entrance.

JAPANESE SPIES

Last summer Congressman Martin Dies had investigators make a thorough survey of Japanese activities along the West Coast. The results eventually were suppressed by the State Department and the President himself, but a brief summary of them indicates that some parts of the United States face a dangerous problem when it comes to fifth column activity.

Hitler had many agents planted through Norway, France and the Low Countries when he attacked, but the Japanese, according to the Dies report, start out with 150,000 of their contrymen in the United States. These are all Japanese citizens, and do not include 50,000 second generation Japanese born in the United States. The Dies report shows that 200 key Japanese have been decorated by the Emperor during the past two years and that many Japanese are in close cooperation with the homeland through the Central Japanese Association which has been directed by consulates in California.

Dies agents have collected photographs of various Japanese truck gardens operated alongside oil tanks and strategic railroads. Also they report 5,000 Japanese residing on terminal islands in Los Angeles harbor, where are located strategic oil tanks. Reeves Field and a shipbuilding company. Oil storage tanks blown up in the harbors would endanger all of the Los Angeles area. The most revealing documents seized by Dies' agents, are maps showing all the U. S. strategic points and fortifications, and a Naval Manual showing size of all American naval vessels.

The Naval Manual, published in 1941, is so up to date that it even shows latest models of U. S. mosquito boats together with the Presidential Yacht Potomac and the plan of U. S. airplane carriers. The location of guns, engine room, etc., is indicated alongside the photograph of each vessel. It must have taken Japanese agents months or years to collect this data.

was overturned and the existing republic was established, with Ismet Inonu, currently, as president. Turkey seems to have emerged from its revolution, about 18 years ago, as a pretty good democracy.

DECENCY IN ANARCHY

Abolishing Abdul, as sultan, took quite a while, and I was in the country myself, on a news assignment, while the rumpus was in progress. There virtually wasn't any government and lots of fighting was going on, but if you were a non-belligerent and didn't happen to get, accidentally, into anybody's line of fire, nobody harmed you. Plundering and miscellaneous lawlessness were strictly discouraged. It struck me as peculiar that so much decency should prevail in the midst of such anarchy. Louis Einstein, long an American career diplomat, was our charge d'affaires there at the time, and I asked him how he accounted for it.

"It's because," he said, "the Turks are essentially so decent a people."

To that, I've found, all folk who've lived among 'em testify. But don't imagine that they're afraid of anything. They're Moslem fatalists. If your time hasn't come, nothing can hurt you. If it has come, nothing you can do will protect you.

Between what was then Constantinople and Istanbul there's a bridge across the Golden Horn, and one day I had occasion to cross it in the local interpretation of a taxicab—a horse-drawn type of phaeton. On arrival at our end

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● We are beginning to get crops of stories among the doctors on draft evaders. One that I have heard lately is that a doctor was examining a draftee for the army. "Read the letters on that chart,"

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

said the doctor. "What chart?" asked the prospective soldier. The examiner said, "Sit down in that chair, take your time and look at the chart." The draftee said, "What chart?"

The doctor left the office in the afternoon and went to the movies and when the lights went up, he was sitting next to the young man he had examined that morning. Quick as a flash the young man turned to him and asked, "Does this bus stop at 39th and Main?"

We had lots of experience in World War I with fellows who weren't mad and didn't want to fight if they could get out of it. It was a hard job to catch them and it was very interesting to see some of the clever tricks used.

Detecting Malingers

The best detector of malingering that I ever knew was an oculist. When he sent for a man who claimed to have had eyes, he would be seated at a desk and pretend to be busy writing. He would say, "Hang your hat on that nail." The soldier would do so, and he would say "Examination concluded." This was startling to the soldier who wanted to get out of the army, but was based on the fact that the doctor had carefully measured the size of the nail and if the man had good enough eyes to see so small an object at that distance, there was nothing wrong with his eyes.

Another dodge was for the ex-

"AT LAST!" said Fred softly, as Susan's voice came over the air.

Miss Alice bent forward, her eyes wide with excitement, her mouth partly open.

"Goodness me!" said Susan's voice. "Oh, I mean—hello, everybody! My, I'm so excited, I plump forgot my introduction speech. Hello, Aunt Alice, are you listening?"

Miss Alice jumped. "Of course I am!" she said.

"Excited? Heavens, everybody, who wouldn't be excited? Now I can put a new roof on the barn, and prop up that old rose arbor that's been threatening to topple over for years." Susan paused and laughed. "I mean, if they don't forget to present me my check, like I forgot to say 'Hello, Everybody!' But they won't, not the Dainty Diana Dairies people. They're just too sweet!"

Then the announcer popping in again.

"Is it true, Susan," he asked, "that you get homesick for Esmeralda?"

"Goodness me, yes!" said Susan. "Sometimes I wake up over at the Astor-Waldovia where I'm staying, high in a tower, and am almost sure I can hear poor Esmeralda howling for me."

"I suppose you'll see that Esmeralda gets part of your prize money?"

"She certainly will. A nice shiny bell to go around her neck, so's we can find her when we turn her loose to graze."

"Tell us something else about the farm?"

"Well, let me see," said Susan, just as though she didn't have every single word written out before her. "There's Mrs. Lott."

"Who's she?" said the announcer, who was now nothing more nor less than a stooge.

"My pet hen," said Susan, and Fred groaned.

"Well, well! So you have a pet hen?"

"Yes, and she's adorable. Only she's also temperamental—I mean about laying eggs."

"A temperamental hen—that is a rarity."

"She won't lay eggs anywhere but in my favorite chair on the back porch," Susan went on. "And one day she laid two eggs in it."

"No!"

"Yes."

"Twins—no less."

"Oh, go along with you, Mr. Powers—you know hens never have twins."

Laughter up in New York, a funny look on Miss Alice's face down

in Ardendale, and a groan doing things to Fred Mosher's insides.

"Of all the piffle," he said, "I ever listened to—this takes the cake."

"I never knew about Susan's pet hen named Mrs. Lott," said Miss Alice.

"—but about the hen's name," said the announcer. "Why do you call her Mrs. Lott?"

"Because she stopped to look back one day," Susan replied, "and got hit by a bag of salt my aunt dropped from the kitchen window."

"I did no such thing!" said Aunt Alice—stiffening.

"Shhhh!" said Fred, and laughed for the first time since the broadcast had begun.

The announcer said: "That's a ducky little outfit you're wearing. I haven't seen a sunbonnet since I was knee-high to a horsefly."

"Like it?" said Susan. "I made it myself."

"You did do such thing?" said Aunt Alice. "I made it."

"Shhhhhh!" said Fred.

Susan, like the announcer, went on and on.

Then finally came the moment when Mr. Daniel Van Wert Jones came forward to present the $5,000 check.

"Susan, my dear—I mean, Susan, my child," he began. "Nothing has given me as much pleasure in years as presenting this check to you. I'm not only proud to have you represent Dainty Diana Dairies in this charming fashion, but I'm proud to be here with you, seeing you as a true-to-life representative of that group of busy, innocent girls—the daughters of farmers!"

"Thank you, Mr. Jones," said Susan. "There aren't many of us left now, since girls, like boys, want to rush off to the city. But I hope that when girls on farms get through listening in on us tonight, they will think twice before giving up the rural happiness they have for the urban happiness they hope to have."

"So do I," said Mr. Jones. "I recall a girl who used to live next door to our farm, and—well, we'll not go into that just now." His laughter self-consciously. "And to get on with the business, I now hand you, Miss Susan Farmer, the $5,000 check offered as a prize in the 'Find the Typical Farmer's Daughter Contest,' sponsored by Dainty Diana Dairies, whose toothsome products grace so many tables—"

"Throughout our grand country," said Fred.

The sound of applause was now coming over the air.

And Susan once more.

"Thank you—thank you—dear Mr. Jones," she said. "And every-one connected with the Dainty Diana Dairies, whose products—" She caught herself just in time. "Whose kindness to me has more than touched my heart. Just think, $5,000 for little me. Why, a month ago I didn't think there was that much money in all the world."

More applause. An orchestra playing, and a chorus of male voices singing. "Where Are You Going, My Pretty Maid?" And again the information: "This is Station YAZB. The hour is now 10:30 o'clock, Wundawork Watch Time—the watch used by the Trans-Continental Airways. Listen in again this time next week. Thank you. Randolph Browne, bidding you—good night!"

Fred switched off the radio. He looked at Miss Alice, and Miss Alice looked at him.

"Well," said Miss Alice.

"What did you think of it?" Fred asked.

"Some of it was all right," Miss Alice replied. "Susan really sounded just like she was here in the room with me. But, the idea, saying she made that sunbonnet."

"Don't let that worry you," said Fred. "It was all part of the set-up." He got up, yawned and lit his pipe. "She ought to pack up and come right home," he said, "before anything happens to make her feel any sillier than I feel right now."

"But she won't—a ten-day visit in New York," Aunt Alice reminded. "She's got half of that left. She couldn't come home now, Fred."

"She could come home tonight if she wanted to," Fred retorted. "There's an express for the south at midnight. I took it once myself."

"But you wouldn't want her to miss seeing the city, would you?"

"Yes," said Fred. "I would."

Miss Alice sat thinking.

"I do miss her," she said. "But I want her to get everything that's coming to her."

"I'm not sure that I do," said Fred, meaningly.

"What are you talking about, Fred?" Aunt Alice said. "You sound sort of—of—like a villain talking."

Fred smiled mischievously. "Forget it," he said. He shook his head slowly. "I never heard a girl say such silly things."

"I didn't think they were so silly," Aunt Alice said. "I thought she sounded just like all the other girls on the air."

"That," said Fred. "Is just the point."

Then, after telling Miss Alice good night, he got into his car and went for a long ride. He needed to do a lot of thinking—and he needed a lot of wide open space in which to do it.

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, December 13

A DAY OF "mixed influences" astrologically is read from the predominant configurations. While there should be excellent prospects in business, professional and financial engagements, with more than usual social, domestic and emotional activity and happiness, yet there is need for discretion and sagacity with possessions, new ventures, all major projects, since impetuosity, an inclination to indulgent or lavish expenditure, hasty or reckless acts in any direction may prove hazardous and imperil good fortune and security. Be alert to fraud and imposition.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for an exceptionally pleasant, happy, and propitious year, with much personal, social, domestic and affectional satisfaction, with good business and financial prospects and fulfilled ambitions. Yet all calls for discretion, sound judgment, restrained action, vigilance against fraud, misrepresentation, imposition. Impetuosity, rashness, over-extravagance and indulgences may undermine most propitious conditions for attaining ambitions and personal pleasures.

A child born on this day should be enterprising, energetic and ambitious, being well endowed for a successful, and useful life, with much personal popularity, prestige and romantic happiness.

For Sunday, December 14

SUNDAY'S horoscope may be very favorable for seeking advancement, promotion or other tokens of preferment and honor at the hands of employers, or for cultivating the friendship of those in influence or social standing. It should be a time for pushing to high goals, especially the intellectual forces. The mind should be brilliant, witty, humorous as well as practical and constructive. Spiritual forces are also stimulated and creative. In all affairs shun extravagance and personal indulgences.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very constructive year, with the mind keyed to high achievement and ambitious objectives. In this the friendly support of elders, employers, superiors and others whose influence is desirable, may be counted upon. Push for promotion, favors, honors and all that bring personal, professional as well as commercial progress and benefit. But in this enthusiasm don't be carried away by extravagance and indulgences.

A child born on this day should have excellent mental and creative abilities and faculties for attaining important position, with honors, favors and the friendship of those in the seats of the mighty. It should set an advanced goal.

Make Elaborate Candies For Those Extra Special Occasions

Isn't this a gorgeous assortment of candies? And they are all home-made with recipes taken from the New Candy Book, now available in our series of 20 Cookbooklets.

When you want to be really daring and different, you can cause a sensation by serving fancy bonbons, creams, glacéed fruits and nuts and other elaborate candies that are much easier to make than you think. The Candy Book, latest release in our series of 20 Cookbooklets, suggests many exciting recipes that are ideal to serve for formal occasions or special parties.

Here is a recipe for Opera Creams that will dazzle your guests and they'll never believe you made them yourself the day before the party.

Opera Creams
3 cups sugar 2 teaspoons
1/2 cup cream vanilla extract
1/2 cup milk Confectioner's
1 tablespoon sugar
glucose

Place the sugar, cream, milk and glucose in a saucepan, bring slowly to boiling point, stirring constantly. Then cook, stirring constantly, to 240 degrees, or to the soft-ball stage. Let stand for 1 minute, then pour gently into a wet platter. When cool, beat gently with a wooden spoon until thick. Cover, let stand for about 1 hour, then add the vanilla extract. Knead until creamy, using confectioner's sugar to prevent sticking. Cover, let stand for about 3 hours, then roll out and cut into squares. Allow to harden on waxed paper for 24 hours.

Turkish Paste is a delicacy for which you'll be long remembered. Follow these simple directions to make it.

Turkish Paste
2 tablespoons 1/2 cup boiling
unflavored water
gelatin 1/4 cup orange
1/2 cup cold juice
water 2 tablespoons
2 cups sugar lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Red or green food coloring

Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat sugar, salt and boiling water to boiling, add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Simmer for 20 minutes, add food coloring and blend thoroughly. Pour into 8x4 inch pan and chill until firm. With a wet knife, loosen around edges and turn out onto a board lightly covered with confectioner's sugar. Cut into cubes and roll each in confectioner's sugar.

Variations of this recipe using nuts, fruits, etc., are also suggested.

Cookbooklets may be obtained by presenting ten cents for each at any of these stores: North End Market, Griffith & Martin, Wellers' Grocery, Brink's Market, Harpster & Yost Hardware, Galt's Food Market, Blue & White Malted Milk, Wallace Bakery, Steele's Produce, R. & R. FOOTBALL BOYS HEAR ADDRESS OF PAUL BROWN

Monday evening, Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State University addressed an audience of Circleville high school football players, their coaches, school officials, Kiwanians and their ladies. The banquet, given for the school grid-ders, was following by Glen Geib's review of Circleville's football season and Coach Brown's talk and motion pictures of the Ohio State-Southern California game, won by Ohio State 33-0.

Because he was speaking to an audience interested chiefly in high school athletics, Coach Brown told of his former coaching experience at Washington high school, Massillon, Ohio.

He explained Massillon's physical education program which begins in the grades and is carried on through senior high school.

Then the coach started his picture projector and, pointing out and naming players on both Ohio's and Southern California's teams, reviewed the entire game. After this, Mr. Brown gave the high spots of the Michigan game.

Coach Brown was obtained as a speaker only because of Renick Dunlap who captained the Ohio State football team in 1935, and who through all these years has maintained his interest in athletics at Ohio State. He has known personally all of the coaches at Ohio State and many of the players.

DEBATERS ENTER SPEECH CONTEST

This week for the first time in several weeks the members of the debate squad were not called together for special meetings. The reason for this rest is that no tournament is scheduled for today.

Last Saturday the squad was at Columbus East high school. The team there met with very little success, losing four out of six of their contests. The varsity affirmatives defeated Hamilton Catholic while losing to Wyoming and Washington C. H. high schools. The varsity negative lost to Hamilton Catholic and Kent State and defeated Bellaire by forfeit.

The previous week the debate team made a clean sweep of all contests at the Ohio State debate and discussion clinic. The varsity affirmative defeated Everett and Fremont high schools; while the negative was successful in debates against Barnesville and Bartlett. Mr. Johnson, who accompanied the squad to both tournaments, also served as judge. The squad this year is composed of William Burget, Marvne Henness, Martha Pile and Ned Stout varsity. The reserve squad consists of Zella Duey, Eleanor Mast, Julius Nash and Charles Will.

STUDENTS HEAR HISTORIC SPEECH

Monday, December 8, the students of Circleville high school assembled in the auditorium at 12:30 to hear President Roosevelt's special message to Congress asking for a declaration of war against Japan. This historic speech of only 500 words will have a lasting effect upon all of us and upon the world.

Thursday at 3:30, the students again assembled. This time they heard Principal J. Wray Henry make several announcements.

C. F. ZAENGLEIN ORGANIZES NEW MUSICAL GROUP

C. F. Zaenglein, instructor of instrumental music in Circleville high school is announcing that in the near future he will form a new band.

Mr. Zaenglein is especially interested in freshmen, seventh and eighth graders, although younger students will be accepted.

It is possible, the instructor pointed out, to become eligible for the high school band within a year if certain requirements are met.

In order to be able to enter the high school band, however, several things are necessary. A student must, of course, have a natural talent in the beginning. He must also have a high scholastic standing. A good instrument is essential for a musician, as is the possession of good physical make-up in order to be able to play the desired instrument. The last requirement is that students attend all rehearsals and practice regularly at home.

The first meeting of the new band will be Friday, January 9, and there will be a meeting every Friday thereafter.

Any person who is interested and has not obtained an application blank may secure them from his homeroom teacher or from Mr. Zaenglein. Mr. Zaenglein wishes to assure parents who are in doubt about instruments or who desire additional information, that he will be most happy to discuss their questions with them.

EDITORIAL OUR THREE-FOLD DEVELOPMENT

You and I entered this world with three undeveloped possessions—a body, a mind, and a soul. It is our individual duty to develop each of these through examples of the experiences and re-searches of our distinguished forefathers.

A body demands vitamins, minerals, and carbohydrates to supply strength and energy. Sufficient rest, fresh air, and exercise is required to maintain a fair balance in its growth. If one of these essentials is lacking, its development is retarded, but with their presence one can proudly own a body glowing with health and strength.

Cleanliness, purity, and an education are the foods necessary for the expansion of our minds. During the years preceding maturity, we receive a thorough knowledge of the three R's through the present public school system. Our characters and personalities are well established through the teachings of our environments and associations, either bad or good. It is our privilege to choose the type of the thoughts, words, and deeds that will prevail and make each one of us stand apart as individuals and examples of early training and discipline. To own a mind that is clean, pure, and free, we must censor our actions and imaginations and furnish it with the food previously mentioned for its expansion.

In close companionship with our bodies and our minds is our soul. Science tells us every atom of our minds and bodies change every seven years, yet there is something that remains the same throughout life and eternity. It is this one thing that unites our past actions and our thoughts with our new bodies. It is our souls, the temples of the Holy Spirit, that supply this link. Food for a soul is an overwhelming love for the guiding fellowship of the Divine. Without this we possess a body and a mind that is warped to such an extent that no love dare seem greater than the attractions of the world.

If a body, a mind, and a soul that contains each of the qualities mentioned is united, we shall have a perfect specimen of excellent mental, physical, and spiritual health. By setting a goal in regard to the development of these possessions and striving to attain it by taking advantage of the freedoms prevalent in this country, we shall have faithfully endeavored to carry out our duty in regard to our bodies, our minds, and our souls.

GIRL RESERVES HEAR SPEAKERS

The Reverend Robert T. Kelsey discussed the problem of Attractive Business during the weekly meeting of the Junior Girl Reserves yesterday at 3:45. He asked the question "How can we make our lives more attractive?" In the course of his talk, the members of the Reserves learned this can be done by dressing up our lives, by shaking ourselves from the dust of ugly living, and by assuming the authority of an inner goal.

Tuesday noon was discussed as the most suitable time to hold the next candy sale. This sale will be in the main entrance of the high school building. The usual price will prevail.

An annual project of the club is to donate some gift to the school. This year they contemplate giving the Home Economics department a water cooler or adding various pieces to complete the dinner set.

Since the annual Christmas party for a group of grade children will be on December 18, the next regular cabinet and club meeting will be set back to December 16 and December 17 respectively.

After a brief business session Thursday, the Senior Girl Reserves heard Mrs. Ray Davis speak. Her subject was "Books".

Mrs. Davis discussed the quality of reading for pleasure and explained how "knowledge acquires power". She talked about different types of literature and urged all the girls to do more reading.

The club appreciates Mrs. Davis' willingness to help them and through the columns of the Red and Black, the girls would like to thank her.

STOOGES DECIDE TO SELL TREES

Tuesday evening the Stooge club voted to sell Christmas trees this year. The trees will be obtained by Otto Gunther, Robert Kline, Frank Geib, and J. L. Chilcote Jr., club adviser. The trees may be purchased at Palm's Grocery, 455 East Main Street, or from any Stooge member. Prices are not available yet. This money-making scheme presented itself when President Frank Geib informed the boys that the club would place the large Christmas tree in the lower front hall.

Harry Clifton is in charge of finding an orchestra for the annual Stooge dance; he will also set the date for the affair. The last dance was on May 9, 1941.

Tuesday's meeting was held at Frank Geib's home. Because of the basketball game next Tuesday, the club will have its meeting on Wednesday. At press time the meeting place was not known.

—Beat Grove City—

CHRISTMAS TREE DECORATES HALL

As in former years, the Stooge Club will erect and decorate a Christmas tree in the alcove of the front hall in time for the vesper service given by the music groups of the grades and high school.

For several years it has been the custom for the high school students to assemble around the tree each morning during the week before the holidays to sing a few carols before going to their morning classes. In all probability this well be carried out in the same manner this year.

GRADE CHILDREN AND GLEE CLUBS WILL TAKE PART

At 4 p. m. Sunday, December 14, the annual Vesper Service will be presented in the high school auditorium. Miss Marjorie Vorhees, vocal music instructor in Circleville high school and elementary schools will direct the program which will be presented in two parts—Christmas as it is observed today, and—Christmas in Bethlehem.

"Christmas Today," which is the theme of the first part of the program, will be composed of selections by the glee clubs of the high school. The program will open with two selections by the Boys' glee club. These numbers are "The Vesper Hour" by Fears and "The Bells Within the Steeples" by Praetorius.

Three selections will be given by the Girls' Glee Club—"A Prayer" by Gluck, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus" by Hughes, and "The First Christmas Morn" by West-off.

These two groups will then combine to sing "The Green Cathedral" by Hahn and "Beyond the Starry Skies" by Wilson. "Christmas in Bethlehem" is the theme of the second portion of the Vesper Hour. This section of the program will be in the form of a pantomime with a background of well-known Christmas carols, sung by the elementary pupils from all grade schools in the city and by the mixed Glee Club.

These Christmas carols include: We Three Kings, Hopkins O Little Town of Bethlehem, Redner

While Shepherds Watched, Handel Away in a Manger Luther's Carol O Come All Ye Faithful

Parents Asked To Take Part In Wednesday's Pot-Luck Supper

PLEDGE MADE TO U. S.

Masters Of Troops To Put Special Stress On First Aid

Boy Scouts of the community have added their pledge to those of other local organizations to support the United States in its present crisis.

Robert Scanland, Boy Scout district field executive, announced Saturday that Scout troops throughout the city and county were adopting programs which will make them of more service to the community during the war.

Scoutmasters are placing greater emphasis on their first aid programs, they are stressing quick mobilization of their troops to handle emergencies which might arise and they are making special effort to secure additional membership. The local scout program is a part of a nation-wide project to organize Emergency Service Corps in the Scout organization.

As a part of their new program, Scouts and Scouters of the community will hold an annual meeting at Memorial Hall next Wednesday night. Mothers and fathers of the scouts will be invited and Scout officials expect the crowd to total as many as 300 persons.

The celebration will open at 6:30 with a pot-luck supper, followed by a program of special music, entertainment and an address. Speaker for the program has not yet been secured.

Demonstrations of scouting will be included in the program and Cub Pack 13 of Kingston also will perform. Group singing will be one of the features.

Each Scout troop will be seated at its own table, and special recognition will be made to the troop having the best decorated table.

Local Scouters directing the program are the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey, William D. Radcliff, Elmer Stebleton; Earl Smith, L. S. Lytle and Ted Steele. Troop committeemen in the county who will assist are Renick Dunlap of Kingston; Walter Hlatt of Tarlton; George Finch of Commercial Point; the Rev. V. C. Stump of New Holland and the Rev. Robert S. Meyer of Williamsport.

PUMPKIN SHOW TO BE OCT. 7-10

Directors Meet Friday Eve To Map Plans For Their Celebration

Pumpkin Show directors set October 7, 8, 9 and 10 as the dates for next year's Pumpkin Show when they met Friday in the Council Chamber.

The date will be the week before the Lancaster Fair, as it was this year. A majority of the directors favored the early date because of more favorable weather conditions.

Also Friday night the directors chose delegates to attend the Fair Manager's convention in Columbus on January 14 and 15. Mack Parrett, secretary of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society, and Robert Colville, Society treasurer, will be the delegates. Dan McClain was selected as alternate.

Preliminary discussion of next year's show, based on the director's observation of the 1941 event, following the regular business meeting, but no official action was taken.

Unusual But True

Regardless of the fact that the cost of living has increased, science and production in the past few years has GREATLY REDUCED THE COST OF FUNERALS.

We beg to inform the public that it is NO LONGER NECESSARY TO THINK IN EXPENSIVE TERMS FOR DECENT FUNERALS AS WE ARE OPERATING ON A MOST ECONOMICAL BASIS, which is pleasing and efficient, and enables us to pass these reductions on to our patrons.

Never before in the history of Modern Funeral Directors have such low prices prevailed. We also wish to inform you that we feature Invalid Car Service to Columbus, for $5.00, local trips at a very minor charge.

May we serve you when such services are needed?

AUTO SKIDS, COLLIDES WITH TRACTOR-TRAILER

The front end of a Ford passenger car driven by Jack Lyory, Charleston, W. Va., was badly damaged Saturday at 12:40 a. m. when it skidded and crashed into a tractor-trailer unit on South Court Street. No one was injured in the accident.

Lyory was traveling north, according to Patrolman Elmer Meriman, when he attempted to pass a tractor-trailer unit owned by the Commercial Motor Freight Company and driven by Paul Smiley, 213 Sixth Street, Ironton. As the Charleston man's car passed the truck, its driver attempted to pull back into his own lane of traffic, his car skidding and turning completely around. The front of the truck missed the car, but the front end of the rear trailer struck it almost head-on.
